

Zone Ordinance Passes Council With No Dissent

Heeds Planning Commission's Warning Of Seriousness Of Delay

LAW TO BE REPUBLISHED

Alterations Are Made In Provisions To Prevent Unjust Restrictions

By a unanimous vote and with one alderman absent the Appleton council Wednesday evening passed the zoning ordinance after one and a half years of planning and discussion.

The adoption of the ordinance followed an animated discussion in which some of the aldermen favored deferring its passage until more mature consideration. Loud applause from the spectators greeted the aldermen after the unanimous vote.

Mayor Henry Reuter, Engineer V. P. Weissgerber, and Attorney P. S. Bradford and Prof. O. P. Fairfield, all members of the city planning commission, urged its immediate adoption, as they believed that further delay would encourage unlimited requests for modifications of the ordinance.

Aldermen A. W. Laabs and C. E. Smith parried for more time, also objecting to some of the features of the ordinance, but they were desirous of going on record as favoring the measure and when the roll was called they responded aye.

TO PUBLISH MEASURE

The ordinance which covers more than a page of newspaper print will be published once more within 15 days after passage, thus giving persons who are affected by it another opportunity of studying it. It is suggested that the ordinance be clipped from the Post-Crescent and filed for future reference.

The measure does not deviate much from its original form. Several amendments have been made, however, an important one being the creation of a board of appeals to be composed by the council and to consist of five members. Decision of the engineer may be appealed to this body. Four members must concur in a decision.

Other changes made in the ordinance are as follows: The law forbidding extra buildings to be erected next to the lot line of residence lots has been amended to allow the building of garages up to the lot line, provided they are 15 feet away from the residence.

A provision limiting the wholesale or bulk storage of oil other than filling stations to the heavy manufacturing districts is amended with the addition "except 150 feet from the center line of steam railroads."

ADD BRUVERY AREA

The following have been added to the heavy manufacturing district: Block 44 east of Broadway, lot 1 of block 40 of Edward West plat, lots 6 and 7 of block 3, or the Fourth ward brewery.

The following property has been added to the commercial and light manufacturing district: Part of block 57, of the Northern Oil company, North and Pacific streets, block 65, on (Continued on page 9)

TWO 17 YEAR OLD YOUTHS FLOGGED

By Associated Press
Tulsa, Okla.—The floggers of two 17 year old youths who were seized here Wednesday night and taken to a grove outside the city where the lash was applied to their backs were being sought by officers Thursday. The victims of the floggers were George Price and Fred Sanders.

A score of men were gathered at the whipping place, the youths told the police.

The boys said their abductors questioned them about a party they attended several weeks ago and accused them of causing a 17 year old girl to become intoxicated. Livid welts across the backs of Price and Sanders told the story of the punishment meted out by the floggers.

Dublin—Twelve irregular prisoners were killed in County Kerry through the explosion of trigger mines.

Another Sale

This time it will be a sale by the people, for the people. Every reader of The Post-Crescent can take advantage of the opportunity it offers. More details can be found on page 13 of this newspaper.

SHAPE TEAMS INC. OF C. FOR MEMBER DRIVE

Enthusiasm Grows As Date For Opening Of Civic Cam- paign Approaches

At the meeting of the executive campaign committee of the chamber of commerce Wednesday afternoon the membership campaign organization, as far as completed, was given the "once over." The greatest enthusiasm abounded at the gathering. A delegation of the committee met with the Appleton city council in the evening and was present when the latter body passed the zoning ordinance.

A goal of 800 members was set by the committee, although it is confident of obtaining more than that. But a definite figure, it was believed, should be fixed in order that the colonels, majors, captains and lieutenants might have some tangible object to strive for.

It was decided to mail out an explanation of the plural membership plan which will be carried out here. Special emphasis was placed on the assignment feature. The plan permits firms, corporations and individuals to subscribe to the cost of the maintenance of the chamber according to the benefits they derive from its activities, and not merely the single membership dues. They may subscribe in multiples of $25. Subscribers may then assign their plural memberships to persons of their own choice, such as young men in their employ, or others. It is held that extension of an employee's acquaintance and his development from contact with business and professional men are of distinct value to an employer.

WORK UNDER WAY

Organization of workers' teams in the membership campaign is well under way and will be completed by Thursday evening when all captains will make team reports. Majors will check all captains and will report to the colonel.

The first captain to complete his team is John Diederich of Major A. K. Ellis' division, although Captain George F. Werner of Major William Comment's division, was a close second. Mr. Diederich's lieutenants are E. H. Harwood, E. H. Krug, John H. Keller, Ralph Gee, W. O. Thiede and Frank P. Young.

Mr. Werner's team consists of Lieutenants J. N. Fisher, O. P. Schaffner, R. W. Gutschow, A. F. Tuttle, T. E. Orison and F. J. Harwood.

PLAN SMOKER

Friday evening at 7:30, the teams will enjoy a smoker at Conway hotel at which all captains and lieutenants will receive their instructions on the method of the campaign. James E. (Jimmy) Gheen will give a "pen" talk, while J. P. Ballantyne will impart the instructions.

Next week, after the campaign has been formally launched at the civic dinner in Elk hall Monday evening, the teams will start out on the drive and will meet daily for reports. The meetings will occur at 8:30 at the chamber of commerce rooms on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of next week. Workers will take luncheon each noon at Hotel Appleton for reports. The final report will be made at a 6 o'clock dinner Friday in Conway hotel.

It has been especially emphasized upon all lieutenants that they be present at the "sales force" meeting in the Venetian room of Conway hotel at 8:30 Friday evening of this week, that they attend the civic dinner at Elk hall Monday evening, that they be on hand at the opening of the drive at 8:30 Tuesday morning and that they report daily at the luncheons.

FOES OF NATIONAL GUARD LOSE AGAIN

By Associated Press
Madison—The Wisconsin Senate Wednesday night put the finishing touches on the last bill calling for abolition of the National guard when without a roll call, it indefinitely postponed the Polakowski bill, passed by an overwhelming vote in the assembly two weeks ago. There was no argument, the measure was called and voted down.

A similar fate met the Hirsch bill in the senate early in the day. On a roll call this proposal was defeated 26 to 4 after an effort had been made to save it.

The efforts of those opposed to the National guard will now be directed at the appropriation of the state's military institution they announced. Governor Blaine is standing out for a cut to $300,000 less, and many of his followers are demanding an even more drastic reduction.

"MOON CRAZED" WOMAN IS FOUND GUILTY OF MURDER

By Associated Press
Milwaukee—Mrs. Elsie Trepte was found guilty of murder in the second degree by a jury in municipal court Wednesday night.

The woman was on trial for killing her husband by shooting several months ago. It was claimed she committed the act at a time when her mind was unbalanced from drinking moonshine.

A hearing for a new trial will be argued March 14.

'Death's Door' Mail Carrier 'Delivers' Soul

By Associated Press
Sturgeon Bay—Captain "Pete" Anderson, valiant mail carrier who kept the populace of Washington Island connected with the outside world for the past twenty years through his perilous trips to the island, is dead at his home at Fish Creek, near here. The captain contracted pneumonia several days ago on a trip to the island and died four years later.

His death marks the passing of one of the most picturesque careers in northern Wisconsin. Taking mail across the hazardous "Death's Door" marked the Captain as one of the most consistently daring men in the northwest.

MOONSHINER IN JAIL FOR 90 DAYS

William Lemmens Of Kimberly Is Arrested In Raid On Residence

One more cellar has been depleted of its treasures, commercially of more value than the contents of many a safe but probably of no intrinsic value whatever, if Volstead is right and the bootleggers are wrong.

The trap was set this time in Kimberly. William Lemmens has since pleaded guilty in municipal court of being the manufacturer of outlawed good and is now doing penance for 90 days in the county workhouse at the special request of Judge A. M. Spencer.

In company with Sheriff Otto H. Zuchlik, Thomas W. Martin, federal prohibition enforcement officer, raided the basement of Lemmens' home in Kimberly Wednesday and there found a large still, 30 gallons of moonshine whiskey and 250 gallons of mash. Lemmens is a widower and the father of five children.

4 BELIEVED LOST IN PITTSBURG FIRE

Pittsburg — Police and firemen Thursday were searching the ruins of the Shelton Hall building for the bodies of three persons reported missing after the fire Wednesday night in which one man was killed. The fire was brought under control early Thursday morning after it had burned for five hours. Fire marshal Thomas L. Perry estimated the damage at $150,000.

While the cause of the blaze has not been determined, fire officials advanced the opinion that it had its origin from leaking gas pipes. The four-story building, an "L" shaped structure, fronting two streets, was completely destroyed.

GIRL WITH 114 FEVER SHOWERED WITH ADVICE

By Associated Press
Escanaba, Mich.—With the start of the nineteenth day of her hitherto unheard of temperature of 114 degrees or better, Miss Evelyn Lyons, 30, chatted freely with her friends at her home here. The young woman, who has astounded the medical profession by her excessive fever, Thursday seemed to be feeling better, although she beat more normally, and her face still retained its clear look. The thermometer showed no decrease in its reading, however, according to Dr. Harry Defnet's report.

The young woman's former bitter complaints against confinement, gave way to a more contented smile and she expressed her deep gratitude for the 30 telegrams and a flood of letters and messages of consolation and advice which she has received from people all over the nation who are interested in her case.

"I wish the Associated Press to thank all of these people for me," Miss Lyons declared to the correspondent. "I am glad to have their comfort in my fight for recovery and I would like to thank each one separately. I know I will recover."

"I wish that I could get out of this," the girl protested, "because I know that I would be better off if I got out into the cold air. But I guess I will have to obey the doctor as he undoubtedly knows what is best."

Attempt To Increase Educational Boards Finally Lost In Senate

By Associated Press
Madison—The attempt to increase the size of educational boards in Wisconsin as proposed in the Tutus bill, adding two farmer and two labor members to the board of university and normal school regents, was finally defeated in the senate Wednesday night, 16 to 12, when the measure came up for passage. Enactment of the bill would have given Governor Blaine immediate control of the board of university regents, a situation which he is desirous of obtaining. Twice previously the bill had met with success in the upper house on roll calls.

Wednesday night's vote stood: For passage—Barber, Cashman, Casperson, Hirsch, Huber, Johnson, Kemp, Polakowski, Quick, Schumann, Severson, Titus.

Against—Bentley, Bilgrien, Burke, Clark, Getteman, Kuckuk, Lange, Morris, Ridgway, Roethe, Skogmo, Smith, Staudenmayer, Tensdale, White.

THOUSANDS WATCH HUMAN FLY DIE; 10 AT FUNERAL

By Associated Press
New York—Whenever Harry "Spider" Young climbed the outside of a tall building in fly fashion or did stunts atop a flagpole 20 or 30 stories above the street he won the cheers of thousands as he defied death.

Thousands in Broadway saw him killed Monday in a plunge from the tenth floor of the Hotel Martiniue in one of his stunts. Wednesday only ten persons attended his funeral and only two floral pieces were placed on his bier.

Two of the mourners were men who earn a living by challenging the laws of gravitation—George "Dare Devil" Raymond, who tearfully told how he had taught "Spider" Young his risky trade, and Peter J. Curtis, an airplane stunt performer.

A flag draped the coffin in tribute to Young's war work for the Red Cross. His widow who saw him fall to his death and his two small children by a former marriage were the only ones to accompany the body to Evergreen cemetery.

President Isolates Himself From Rest Of World So That Vac- ation Becomes Real Benefit To Him

By David Lawrence
Copyright, 1923 by the Post Pub. Co.

New Smyrna, Fla.—President Harding has drawn a new map of Florida. It consists of a two hundred and fifty mile stretch of shallow water other, wise known as "Indian river inlet and eleven green areas on shore labelled "GOLF," in capital letters of red.

No cities, towns, villages, people, brass bands, reception committees, official keys to the city, in fact no inhabitants at all have any place in the Harding sun. The Florida newspapers, democratic by tradition, but happy over the presence of their distinguished visitor, exhort the populace to let the president absolutely alone and have a real vacation, so "twixt golf and shore and the drifting houseboat Mr. Harding has begun under very favorable weather conditions, a vacation of seclusion. The program, if there is such a thing can be varied but slightly: thirty or forty miles down stream on the houseboat, 36 holes of golf and back to the houseboat again.

HARD ON REPORTERS

When and where, the party will be each day depends upon the weather and the president's inclination. He dislikes cut and dried programs. He has enough of that in the white house. Everything there is scheduled by the minute and hour. Mr. Harding welcomes the opportunity here to do what he pleases and when he pleases. It is a little difficult for secret service men and the newspaper men who are obliged to keep in sight of the president all the time if they can. The reporters trail along on shore in automobiles and wait at each docking place for the presidential houseboat to arrive with the daily golf party.

The secret service men have a small yacht and a speed boat as well as a high powered automobile and they manage to keep the president free from intrusion.

ACTS QUICKLY

Speaking of the absence of a schedule for the ten days this is typical of Mr. Harding on vacations. He is a believer in the theory that there's more fun in spontaneous excursions than in carefully planned trips. Many years ago before he was in politics he is said to have suggested at breakfast to Mrs. Harding that they go to Europe and they left at noon. On another occasion the Hardings went to Hawaii on much less notice than that.

The arrival of the presidential party at Ormond, the first golf stop, was attended by considerable rearranging of plans at the last minute. Senator Hale of Maine and former Senator Frelinghuysen of New Jersey and John Barton Payne who was (Continued on page 16)

Diney's Wife In Madison To Plead Freedom

His wife has gone to Madison preliminary with the intention of securing a pardon for him, while he is serving his 60-day sentence in the county jail.

Recently a jury in circuit court sustained the decision of Judge A. M. Spencer of the municipal court directing Diney to pay a fine of $100 for the dog killing offense, but Judge Edgar V. Werner granted a stay of execution to allow the man sufficient time to raise the money. The alternative for the fine was 60 days in jail.

LA FOLLETTE GETS COMPLETE WAR SCRUBBING

Assembly Also Votes To Con- demn Professors—Senate Refuses To Praise Him

Madison — Senator Robert M. La Follette stood vindicated by the Wisconsin legislature of charges of disloyalty made against him during the World war.

Both houses of the legislature, which in 1918 adopted a resolution denouncing his war stand, had Thursday favorably acted on a resolution condemning the 450 university of Wisconsin faculty members who signed a round robin in the early days of the war, reciting an attack on Senator La Follette's senior senator. This resolution was adopted in the senate Wednesday by a vote of 17 to 12, and in the assembly Thursday 82 to 11.

While clearing his war stand, the senate Thursday refused to praise the "Good sense and fine spirit of toleration," of Senator La Follette which Senator Henry Roethe, Fond du Lac, claimed that he showed when he urged Senator Henry Huber, author of the university resolution to change his original plan of having a bonfire to destroy the round robin. This move was accepted as a personal insult by Senator Huber, and was killed at his request.

DID NOT COURT WHITEWASH

Senator La Follette did not court the whitewashing received by him at the hands of the legislature. In a letter to Senator Huber he expressed his willingness that the record should stand as evidence of "war hysteria."

He opposed the bonfire resolution originally sponsored by the state senator. But the legislators, elected largely by his support, wanted to give an expression of appreciation and decided to denounce the university professors who disagreed with him during the war period.

DRYS SPLIT HONORS IN STATE ASSEMBLY

By Associated Press
Madison—The drys divided honors with the wets in assembly vote on prohibition Wednesday. After the assembly had voted in the morning to memorialize congress to redefine in the Volstead act the amount of alcohol that might lawfully be contained in beverages the assembly committee on state affairs voted 5 to 1 to report for indefinite postponement the Tucker bill calling for repeal of the Severe prohibition enforcement law.

This measure which comes to the floor recommended for killing is the proposal behind which wets have agreed to unite. It is expected that the lower house will be able to overturn the committee recommendation by a narrow margin, and pass the bill. The senate is organized to kill the proposal.

They were the successful candidates in Wednesday's non partisan primary. Dremus leading inches by two to one, and the latter maintaining a still greater lead over his nearest opponent, David A. Brown, a business man.

A proposal to increase the salary of the mayor from $8,000 to $12,000 a year was lost.

Manitowoc Company Enters Pe- tition In Federal Court To Conserve Assets

By Associated Press
Buffalo—Receivers were appointed in federal court Thursday for the L. R. Steel enterprises in which the public has invested about $22,000,000. L. R. Steel, the promoter, severed his connection with the companies, of which there are nearly a score on Jan. 27 and since then direction of the Steel enterprises has been in the hands of a board of control.

The receivers were appointed on a suit of equity brought to conserve the assets of the various corporations. The petitioner is the National Toy and Tinsel Mfg. Co., Manitowoc, Wis. Judge John R. Hazel named as receivers William W. Reilly, Buffalo lumber merchant; David M. Lewis, New York, lawyer and Charles Bennett Smith, Buffalo, former congressman.

HISTORY OF ORGANIZATION

The parent Steel company was organized in 1919 by Leonard R. Steel who for several years had been identified with chain store companies. It later became known as L. R. Steel, Inc., and as the business grew subsidiaries were formed to sell stock to administer the real estate controlled by the various enterprises and for many other purposes. Chief among the subsidiaries was the L. R. Steel Service corporation which handled the sale of stock in all the Steel concerns in which the public was invited to invest. Elaborate offices were opened in the larger cities of the United States and Canada and a large selling force was engaged to dispose of stock. Fifty thousand persons it is stated put more than twenty million dollars into the common and preferred stock.

Frequent conventions of the Steel stock salesmen were held at which Steel was lauded as "a wizard in chain store management" and the force was enthused to greater effort in the disposal of stock in other subsidiaries.

FIRST DISTRESS SIGNAL

The first sign of distress, so far as the public was informed came in Jan. 27, when it was announced that Leonard R. Steel had surrendered the presidency of the L. R. Steel, Inc., the L. R. Steel Realty Development company and had placed his stockholdings in these and in other subsidiaries in the hands of an executive board.

Steel, it was intimated left his enterprises without a dollar except what was represented in his Steel security holdings. His city home previously had been sold and a beautiful country residence where he now lives was in his wife's name. Mr. Steel's health was shattered by his three years devotion to the business. It was stated.

W. M. Stokes, general counsel for Steel corporations, was made chairman of the executive board. Stock selling, it was announced would be discontinued but it was not until the middle of February that the stock selling agencies ceased to function. This was followed by announcement that the state attorney general had been investigating the financial status of the Steel companies and the Steel executive board had entered into a stipulation not to sell more stock.

PLANNED STORE HERE

It was part of the L. R. Steel company's plan to open one of its chain stores in Appleton within the year, but this turn in the company's affairs perhaps is what prevented consummation of this intention.

The company purchased the Douglas block, the northeast corner of College and Onondaga where Schiltz drug store and other firms are located, about a year ago. The corner was to be remodeled for a chain store. A transaction occurred last month, however, by which the property was sold to S. A. Whedon of this city.

CARUSO'S COSTUMES ARE AUCTIONED OFF FOR 'SONG'

New York—The gorgeous brilliantly colored costumes worn by Enrico Caruso in some of his most popular roles were placed on the auction block Wednesday and sold for little more than a song. The highest price paid was $70. This was for the costume that Caruso wore as Radames in Aida.

The sixteenth century Breelian Walnut cabinet used as an altar for the baptism of Gloria Caruso brought $425. It was announced that Mrs. Caruso's share of the receipts would go to the Caruso federation for the benefit of needy musicians.

PASS BILL RESTRICTING POWER OF SCHOOL CHIEFS

Madison—The Titus bill providing a tenure of office for teachers in Wisconsin public schools was passed by the senate Wednesday night 17 to 11 after a fight.

If accepted by the assembly a law will be in force in the state prohibiting superintendents of schools from discharging teachers until they have had a hearing before the school board.

WATER BOARD TO BUY $40,000 OF H. S. BOND ISSUE

Plans To Save City Broker's Fee And Earn Interest With Surplus

Request of the Appleton water commission that the common council reserve junior high school bonds in the sum of $40,000, free of brokerage fees, for the department was granted by the city fathers at their meeting Wednesday evening. The bonds are to be held in trust by the city treasurer for the account of the water department, the department to be credited with interest on the bonds as any other investor. The bonds are to be sold to the department at the same price which will be bid by the successful bidders purchasing them when they are offered for sale.

The money will be taken by the commission from its depreciation reserve fund of $1,068.00 which it maintains for emergencies, such as replacement of engines, pumps, mains, etc. The reserve is carried at the bank and is therefore drawing only 3 per cent interest. A sum invested in municipal bonds will not only yield greater interest but can be converted into cash easily when an emergency arises.

PAY OVER DIVIDEND

The council also acknowledged receipt of the communication of the water commission transferring to the general fund of the city $14,378.98, representing the city's first return on its investment in the municipal waterworks.

"The utility is now in such financial condition that we deem it proper that it should pay the city a fair and reasonable return on its investment, and we therefore decided to pay the general fund the sum of $14,378.98, which is a 5 per cent dividend," the letter says.

"We hope that we may be able to continue to pay this dividend rate and that the council will use it to offset part of the amount placed in the budget for main extensions."

WARNS OF FIRE HAZARD

A communication from Appleton Tor and Furniture company served notice on the council through its attorney, J. P. Frank, that in view of its lack of adequate fire protection and its frequent but ignored requests for improvement of streets surrounding its factory, the company will hold the city responsible for any loss that may result from fire.

A large number of small tax rebates were, upon the recommendation of the rebate committee, granted and a number of other requests for rebate were refused.

The recommendation of the street committee for cinder as a part of eighth and Miller streets was accepted. A report was given by Engineer O. F. Wollgast on the state engineers convention he attended in Madison two weeks ago. Applications for sewer diggers' licenses were granted to two, and petitions for water service, sewers, etc., were referred to the proper committees.

CASH REGISTER IS USELESS IN GERMANY

Dusseldorf—Among other calamities for which the depreciation of the mark is responsible, must be added the passing of the cash register in Germany. An American walked into a cutlery shop recently and while awaiting his turn to be served was admiring an elaborate register made by one of the best American firms. "One hundred and eighty-five thousand marks," the clerk informed the customer as he handed him a small package containing a safety razor. "How will he mark this on the machine," the American mused, noting that the figures on the register only numbered to a thousand, four figures. "Is he going to ring it up one hundred and eighty-five times?"

The clerk opened the cash drawer, placed the money within and on a little slip entered the amount of the sale. "Yes, this is a beautiful piece of work," the proprietor volunteered, pointing to the cash register, "but it is as useless to me as a thousand mark note in a second class restaurant. We have to trust the clerks now, but it is easy; no one wants to steal this paper."

MAN OF 60 REGAINS VIGOR HE HAD AT 35

New Orleans Resident Tells of Wonderful Results Produced by a Recent Scientific Discovery

D. W. Wood, 60, of New Orleans, La., declares he has virtually been made young again by the recently discovered korex compound, which is pronounced superior to "gland treatments" as an invigorator and revitalizer. "It has brought me back to as good, healthy physical condition as I enjoyed at 35," he writes. "I am apparently as supple as at 25." Mr. Wood says he would not take $5,000 for what the compound has done for him.

The compound is a simple home treatment in tablet form, absolutely harmless, yet the most powerful invigorator known. Acting directly on lower spinal nerve centers and certain blood vessels, it often produces amazing benefits in 24 to 36 hours. In nationwide tests, it has won the praises of thousands who suffered from nerve weakness, premature age and lack of vital force. Physicians say it gives speedy satisfaction in cases that defy other treatments. Elderly people pronounce it a real "fountain of youth."

Knowing that this news may seem "too good to be true," the distributors invite any person needing the compound to take a $2 double-strength treatment, enough for ordinary cases, with the understanding that it costs nothing if it fails. If you wish to try this guaranteed invigorator, write in strict confidence to the Nelson Laboratories, 3008 Massachusetts Bldg., Kansas City, Mo. If you prefer, you may enclose $2; or simply send your name, without money, and pay the postman $2 and postage on delivery. In either case, if you report after one week that the korex compound has not given you satisfaction, the laboratories will return your money immediately. This offer is fully guaranteed, so nobody need hesitate about accepting it.

SATURDAY LAST DAY TO RESERVE FOR CIVIC DINNER

Dr. Reeve Will Be Toastmaster At Banquet At Which Grau Speaks

Reservations for the Appleton civic dinner Monday evening are being received at the chamber of commerce in gratifying number. It has been definitely announced that reservations will close at 6 o'clock Saturday evening. Those who may find themselves too late are urged to telephone their reservations, calling 2701.

Dr. J. S. Reeve has been made toastmaster for the dinner which will be served by the Womans club at the Elk club at 8:15 Monday evening. Phil A. Grau, executive director of the Milwaukee Association of Commerce, a speaker of renown, has been secured to give the address. Both men and women have been invited to be present at the meeting. The affair will not be formal.

A. F. MURPHY HEAD OF DISTRICT ATTORNEYS

Madison—A. F. Murphy, Marinette, was elected president of the Wisconsin Attorneys' association at its final meeting here Wednesday night. High P. Smith, West Bend, was chosen vice president and Thorwald M. Beck, Racine, secretary and treasurer.

The executive committee consists of T. G. Lewis, Madison; John J. Boyle, Darlington; Victor H. Stoltz, Eau Claire; George A. Hartman, Juneau; Franklin E. Bump, assistant attorney general, Madison.

EIGHT SEEKING TO BUILD NEW HOMES

Eight new homes will be added to the 1923 building program if applications approximating $20,000 are approved by Appleton Building and Loan association when the board of directors meets Thursday evening. There has been a brisk demand for loans for new homes and most of the applications now on file probably will be taken care of, as funds have been coming in liberally through savings.

By giving preference to home builders who first were savers under the monthly installment plan for purchasing shares, the membership of the association has been increased considerably. Each family wanting a home is told to begin saving a long time in advance if possible.

Laxatives Replaced By the Use of Nujol

Nujol is a lubricant—not a medicine or laxative—so cannot gripe. When you are constipated, not enough of Nature's lubricating liquid is produced in the bowel to keep the food waste soft and moving. Doctors prescribe Nujol because it acts like this natural lubricant and thus secures regular bowel movements by Nature's own method—lubrication. Try it today.

FARMER FORESEES JUMP IN H.C.L. IF 8-HOUR DAY COMES

Proposed Law Will Hit Rural Labor Supply Most, Farmers Believe

Probably none of the proposed bills in legislature has caused greater displeasure among the farmers in this vicinity than the proposed basic eight-hour day law, by which the eight-hour day would be made a legal and recognized day in most of the industries in the state.

Although the bill is declared not to affect the farmers in the least, it appears that the farmers feel the bill affects them most. They oppose the general eight-hour day for laborers on the ground that it will add greater inducements to the already overactive labor conditions in cities and aggravates the problem of securing adequate farm labor under the circumstances.

The law, if passed, will only give more impetus to the present exodus from the farms to the cities, it is held.

The farmers argue further that the law would add a still greater burden to the farmer's heavy load, inasmuch as it would increase the costs of all manufactured products purchased by the farmer, and it would be a subsidy to labor in the cities, this to be passed on to the consumer on the farm.

"If the law is passed," said a Mackville farmer, "farmers will not be able to secure any help except on an eight-hour day basis. The farm wage will therefore have to be increased. This increased cost of production, as well as the increased cost of products that the farmer purchases, cannot but send the prices of butter, milk, grain and other products sky high."

FOUNDRYMEN TO MEET IN MADISON

Appleton's Six Foundries Expected To Be Represented At Gathering

Some 302 foundries in 82 Wisconsin cities are concerned with the metals convention, the first statewide gathering of the Wisconsin foundrymen and men engaged in other metal working industries, which will be held in Madison on April 4 and 5, in cooperation with the department of mining and metallurgy of the University of Wisconsin.

There are foundries in 82 Wisconsin cities and towns, and the number in each ranges up to a total of 81 in Milwaukee. Letters from foundrymen in various cities already indicate that a considerable number of these foundries will be represented at the metals convention.

Cities in which 10 or more foundries are located include: Milwaukee, 81; Racine, 21; West Allis, 14; Beloit, 12; and Oshkosh, 11. Among those having foundries ranging in number from 3 to 10, are Kenosha, 9; La Crosse, 8; Superior, 7; Eau Claire, Appleton and Wausau, 6 each; Beaver Dam, Madison, Manitowish, Neenah, North Milwaukee, and Sheboygan, 5 each; Green Bay, Grafton, Slinger and South Milwaukee, 3 each.

Cities having two foundries each include: Ashland, Berlin, Roscholt, Chippewa Falls, Fond du Lac, Fort Atkinson, Hartford, Janesville, Menomonie, Merrill, Portage, Port Washington, Sheboygan Falls, Watertown, Waupaca, Wausau, Stevens Point and Stoughton.

Forty Badger cities and towns have one foundry each. They are Adell, Algoma, Brill, Burlington, Cedar Grove, Clinton, Cudahy, De Pere, Evansville, Fredonia, Horicon, Wisconsin Rapids, Hudson, Juneau, Kaukauna, Kewaskum, Kewaunee, Killbuck, Kohler, Lake Geneva, Lake Mills, Marinette, Marshfield, Menasha, Neenah, New Holstein, New London, Oakland, Oconomowoc, Plymouth, Rhinelander, Rice Lake, Ripon, Silver Lake, Sturgeon Bay, Tomahawk, Truesdale, Two Rivers, Waupun and West Bend.

ENTRY OF SMALLER SCHOOLS IN FRAT. CONVENTION ISSUE

College Journalists Open National Gathering Here On Friday

The adoption of a policy concerning the admission of chapters from smaller schools into Pi Delta Epsilon, national honorary journalistic fraternity, will be one of the important questions to be discussed when Alpha Delta chapter at Lawrence college will be host to the national convention of the organization on March 9, 10 and 11. The business sessions will be devoted mostly to matters regarding the policy toward smaller schools. Entertainment will be furnished at the fraternity houses.

The delegates who reach Appleton Friday will be entertained in the evening at a smoker and get-acquainted party for members only at one of the fraternity houses. As some of the members of the council will not be able to attend the convention in Appleton the meeting of the grand council will be held in Chicago, Friday evening. The members of the grand council are: H. Pennell, of the University of California, grand vice president; H. E. Lobell, of Boston school of Technology, grand secretary; J. R. Patty, of Greenville, Ohio, grand treasurer and T. C. Pack, of Chicago, grand editor.

Registration will be held Saturday morning in the Lawrence office at Main hall of Lawrence college followed by the first business session in the reception rooms of Russel Sage dormitory. A luncheon for the delegates and local members will be given at 12 o'clock at Hotel Appleton. A business meeting will occupy most of the afternoon.

Saturday evening a banquet for the members will be given at 6:30 in the Venetian room of Conway hotel, followed by a dance at which friends of the members will be invited. Honorary members of the Appleton chapter who will be guests are Dr. Samuel Plantz, Dr. William McPheeters, John Riedl and Eugene Colvin. Harry Clark will be an alumni member.

SCHOOLS ARE HIT BY SIEGE OF GRIP

A considerable number of rural schools have been forced to close for a period during the winter siege of grip and colds. In some cases the schools were closed on account of the illness of the teacher, in others it was because so many pupils were kept home from school. Schools that were closed recently, some of which have not as yet reopened their doors, are the Dale and Medina village schools, the Golden Rule school of Osborn, the Maple Leaf school of Liberty and the Sunny View school of Black Creek.

WANT BEVERIDGE IN HOLWAY BERTH

Petitions are being circulated in this vicinity among members and former members of the Wisconsin National guard requesting Governor Blaine to appoint Col. Byron Beveridge, formerly of Appleton, as adjutant general of the state guard to succeed Adj. Gen. Orlando Holway, deceased. The office is temporarily filled by Col. John Salsman.

The petition has not had very wide circulation, as those circulating it are waiting to learn the extent of favor of Col. Charles Williams for the office. It is understood, however, that Col. Beveridge may be next in line for the appointment if Col. Williams refuses the office.

Ends Stubborn Coughs in a Hurry

For real effectiveness, this old home-made remedy has no equal. Easily and cheaply prepared.

You'll never know how quickly a bad cough can be conquered, until you try this famous old home-made remedy. Anyone who has coughed all day and all night, will say that the immediate relief given is almost like magic. It is very easily prepared, and there is nothing better for coughs.

Into a pint bottle, put 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, the full pint saves about two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, and gives you a more positive, effective remedy. It keeps perfectly, and tastes pleasant—children like it.

You can feel this take hold instantly, soothing and healing the membranes in all the air passages. It promptly loosens a dry, tight cough, and soon you will notice the phlegm thin out and disappear. A day's use will usually break up an ordinary throat or chest cold, and it is also splendid for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness, and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, the most reliable remedy for throat and chest ailments. To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

A good many years ago, so the legend runs, a father called his sons and gave them each a stick to break. They broke the twigs easily, then the father tied as many twigs as he had sons in a bundle and passed the bundle to the boys and asked them to break it. They tried hard but the bundle resisted their strength.

This same principle is true today. "In union there is strength" reads the adage. Much more can be accomplished by a thousand men working and thinking as a team than by two thousand men working and thinking as individuals.

To bring about this team-thinking and team-working is the purpose of the chamber of commerce which opens its campaign for a greater Appleton next Monday night with a civic dinner. The chamber of commerce is a clearing house for community thinking and community effort; it is the means for concentration of action on specific problems and as such deserves the earnest support of all citizens who want their city to progress.

When the chamber of commerce was organized three years ago the memberships were made on a three year basis because it was felt that the first year or two of the organization would be largely devoted to preliminary planning and that its accomplishments would not begin to be much in evidence until near the third year. The chamber has done many worthwhile things for the city. It has saved the merchants, and incidentally the buying public, many thousands of dollars by disapproving of advertising and soliciting schemes; it has given Appleton thousands of dollars worth of advertising; it has saved money for investors by careful investigation of industrial propositions that wished to locate here and disapproved of them because they offered no assurance that they would add anything to the city; it has assisted in making Appleton a convention city, thereby bringing in thousands of visitors with money to spend; it has assisted in bringing about a city plan for Appleton and in many other ways has helped to make Appleton a better city.

But there remains much to be done. Appleton has many problems which will require the best thought and the most concerted action to solve. The chamber of commerce, with a large, interested and working membership will be in a position of leadership in coping with the city's difficulties. The campaign which starts next Tuesday is for the purpose of obtaining this kind of a membership. Appleton cannot afford to be backward in its civic affairs. Other cities, with live chambers of commerce are progressing. Appleton also must have a live organization and this can be obtained if every man and woman, interested in a greater Appleton, will join the chamber with the intention of working in unison with every other member for the welfare of their home city and of themselves.

MR. FORD DOWN ON HIS UPPERS

When Mr. Henry Ford inspected his Eastern Kentucky properties recently, he ordered prices of provisions reduced by all of his commissaries, and citizens of Pikeville, amazed, asked him what he would do if perchance he ever become penniless. He replied that this misfortune would not crush him. He would borrow a dollar from each of his employees and would be a millionaire again in twenty-four hours.

Those who marvel at Mr. Ford's popularity may find their explanation in this statement. Although a rich man, he repeats again and again his declaration of independence of capital, and this policy he applies strictly in his business. The public suspects that capital is alert for an easy chance to bankrupt him, and he, having the same suspicion, appeals to the live imagination and responsive sentiment of the masses.

Mr. Ford's opinions on philosophy, literature, politics, race prejudice, peace and other subjects foreign to the automobile industry fail to impress thinking persons. It is, in fact, flattering to disagree with most of his ideas. On the other hand, the most intelligent are the most delighted admirers of his producing, selling and advertising methods.

There are only a few more manufacturers who have solved the most important economic phase of modern industry. He is probably the most conspicuous. He is following the idea that prices of manufacture should be made as low as possible and profits should be realized from immense volume of sales. He is buying iron fields, coal mines, timber lands, sand beds, bauxite deposits in order to be able to make the lowest possible prices.

THE TIME WORN QUESTION OF FREEDOM

Liberty is like every other priceless treasure. It is something divine when we seek it; trash when we have it. We sacrifice life, property and all to win it, and then cherish it less than material possessions. We understand and appreciate it while we have it not, but are puzzled, while we enjoy it, by its wonderful benefits.

Have you thought much of liberty? What is liberty? How it was secured? How it may be preserved? What its special obligations are? Liberty is always associated with republicanism. The history of the ages teaches us that it is unobtainable under any other political system. Freedom flourished under kings and autocrats, but its existence lay in the pleasure of the power that conferred it. In modern times citizens of empires and kingdoms have had full liberty, and there still are such states in which freedom prevails, but they are empires and kingdoms in name only. In reality they are commonwealths.

The fundamental point which most persons overlook when they discuss liberty is that liberty is a national right and condition only in an individualist sense. It is impossible for a nation to be free unless the individual has liberty. When we talk of democracy we have national liberty in mind. Democracy is more purely and truly a popular form of government, we casually think, than is the representative system. We have an idea that there is greater liberty in democracy than in republicanism.

There is very little difference between democracy and socialism. There may seem to be large differences in definitions. In practice, the two plans are alike. Democracy makes the state more important than the individual; or, to be exact, the multitude more important than the single human unit. Socialism is a democratic autocracy or bureaucracy, in which the state is superior to the people. Democracy is the multitude, ruling through the state; socialism, the state dominating the multitude; but in both the rights of the individual are subordinated totally to the state.

In true representative government, which ours is, and was meant to be, right and justice are based on individual liberty. The people are just as free as the individual is, and the state is subservient to individualism. These distinctions are not theoretical. They are actual. And they should be considered with the utmost seriousness in these times of radical and democratic tendency. The supreme idea is that a nation is as free as the individual.

TODAY'S POEM

By Berton Braley

ROVER'S CHANT

Let's go roll, roll rolling down the road,
Tramp, tramp, tramping down the trail;
Oh, we'll roam, roam, roam, till we come back home,
Greeting every rover with a hail, hail, hail!
Let's go blow, blow, blowing with the wind,
Swing, swing, swinging on a long,
Oh, we may not know where to go, go, go,
But the beat, beat, beat of our faring feet
Is the drum for our marching song.

Under the vault of the sky overarching,
We shall go marching, marching, marching,
Over the hilltop and down in the hollow,
Following paths that the wanderers follow;
Who has the heart and the soul of a rover,
Weary of doing things over and over?
Let him be one of us, treading the loam,
Round the wide world, round the wide world,
Round the wide world and home!

Come, come, come along with us,
Hum, hum, hum a roving song with us!
Sun, wind and rain and the free road between us!
Hark to the beat of the chorus:
Let's go roll, roll, rolling down the road,
Tramp, tramp, tramping down the trail,
For we'll roam, roam, roam, till we come back home,
Greeting every rover with a hail, hail, hail!

SWEATING UNDER THE ARMS

An average of 10 queries a day about the control of excessive sweating or malodorous sweating, or sweating that stains the clothing about the armpits may be answered with a general discussion of the subject.

The sweat glands are normally large and very active in the axillae and several layers of clothing add to the natural stimulation of the glands of this region by the warmth which is maintained here from apposition of the upper arm and chest wall. There is no objection, so far as hygiene is concerned, to diminishing or checking the sweating of a limited area of the skin by artificial means, provided only that the agent employed shall not irritate or otherwise injure the skin. Nor is there any hygienic objection to shaving the hair from the pits or axillae or removing the hair by chemical solvents, provided the agents employed shall not irritate excessively, as most of the deplatory preparations which purport to "destroy" hair do. The best way to remove the hair is by means of a small safety razor. But the removal of the hair from the armpits does not diminish sweating nor the odor nor staining which sometimes accompanies excessive sweating.

One of the best agents for diminishing excessive sweating and for overcoming the odor present in some cases is aluminum chloride solution. Half an ounce of aluminum chloride dissolved in three ounces of distilled water or rain water is strong enough in most instances. This should be sponged or dabbed on the skin each alternate day for four or five times, perhaps, and allowed to dry before dressing.

In some cases this proves somewhat irritating and sets up unpleasant itching or smarting. In others it fails to give complete relief. In former circumstances the solution should be reduced in strength by adding more water. In the latter a stronger solution may be used, say half an ounce of aluminum chloride in two ounces of distilled water. In any case it is usually necessary to resort to the use of the aluminum chloride solution for a few days now and then, in order to keep the sweating under control. The persistent use of pure boric acid in very weak solution as a dusting powder or control of the excessive and malodorous perspiration in the armpits in some instances.

The reddish stain frequently noted is due to the presence of a harmless bacterium and may be overcome by applying daily an antiseptic solution and keeping it on the skin for not less than five minutes. As much boric acid as water will dissolve while warm makes as good a solution as any for the purpose.

Very light X-ray treatments by a skilled operator will control excessive localized sweating perfectly in many cases.

An old and useful remedy for excessive or foul sweating in the axillae is a solution of half an ounce of zinc sulphate in a pint of boiled water, and another more homely one is a solution of an ounce of alum in a pint of boiled water. Either of these astringent solutions should be sponged on the clean dry skin surface once a day and allowed to dry.

Particularly useful in getting rid of an unpleasant odor associated with excessive sweating in the armpits is this ointment, sparingly applied once daily for six times:

Saltic acid 30 grains
Benzoin acid 60 grains
Vaseline 1 ounce

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Eggshell Myth

Powdered eggshell mixed with salt, half and half, in capsule form, for goitre. How many times a day should it be taken?—Mrs. K. J. L.
Answer: The eggshell would have no effect on goitre, so far as I know. If the salt were not so greatly purified it might still contain traces of iodine or iodide and such salt would tend to prevent goitre. A table salt might well be iodized—say about five grains of sodium iodide to the pound—for regular household use, in all sections where simple goitre in young persons prevails.

WHAT'S GOING ON IN THE WORLD

Week's Events Briefly Told

BY CHARLES P. STEWART

Europe looks very much like getting back to the conditions which led up to the World War.

Primarily the last great conflict was between Germany and England. It may not seem so after the fact, because so many other issues were dragged in. But every close student of the situation could see what was coming eight or ten years before it happened.

It was evident that Germany was determined to grow and that England was determined to prevent her from growing, because she could grow only at England's expense.

Nobody foresaw that America would be drawn into the struggle, but plenty of people foresaw that France and Russia and Italy and the Balkan nations and, of course, Austria-Hungary would.

True, a great many who saw perfectly well what the tendency was, didn't believe there actually would be a war. They thought civilization had progressed too far for such a thing to be possible. But they were aware that England's race to keep ahead of Germany's race to catch up were leading, logically, in that direction.

Well, it's the same today, except that, now, instead of being England and Germany, it's England and France.

Their interests conflict. Nothing could be worse. A quarrel can be patched up, but a conflict of interests can't.

The friction between England and France isn't very serious yet, but if things go on as at present, it will get more and more so. Probably it will be ten or twenty years before the sparks begin to fly. But sooner or later they will.

Of course this is assuming that France goes ahead with her policy of today and that it works.

Nothing could be clearer than that she aims to expand, and nothing can be more certain that, if she succeeds in doing so, she will have England to reckon with.

French propagandists have been circulating the story lately that the Germans are getting ready for an armed uprising in the Ruhr.

No doubt it's true there's a good deal of restlessness there, but the French have too obvious a reason to exaggerate for their accounts to be taken without a liberal quantity of salt—they want an excuse for tightening their grip.

Most of the international political authorities are predicting some sort of a settlement of the Ruhr controversy before long, but it looks more every day as if the French meant to hang on for good. There may be so-called mediation, yes, France, however, as the plot works itself out, doesn't appear quite so much as she did at first, to have gone off at half-cock when she seized this German territory. If she had some well laid plan in mind at the time, it isn't likely that any conference of outsiders will persuade her to give it up.

For that matter, French and German "big business" show signs of getting closer together than they were.

There was quite awhile that Germany, in a business way, was so much more friendly with the English than the French as to upset the latter. Was the Ruhr enterprise intended, among other things, as a hint to the Germans that they'd got to tie up with France, whether they liked it or not? And are the Germans beginning to do it, like cold-blooded business men who don't let sentimental considerations weigh with them for long against hard facts?

Indications point that way. Also all accounts agree that France is likely to recognize the revolution which, by the way, England isn't as friendly as she was. French influence?

At any rate, it's certain that France is doing everything she knows how to strengthen herself, politically and commercially, throughout continental Europe, as fast as she can. It's equally certain that England doesn't like the French policy a bit.

The queerest feature of the whole thing, just at the moment, is that here's an underlying sense of better relations between France and Germany, despite the former's invasion of the latter's soil, and in spite also of the supposedly threatened German raising against the French, than exists today between England and France.

Just after the war, there were a lot of folk who had an idea no Anglo-Saxon ever would like a German again. But people who recalled how past enmities, seemingly just as bitter, had been forgotten with the lapse of time, were heard occasionally to remark that, after all, you couldn't

CAPITOL JOKES

BY JAMES A. FREAR
U. S. Representative From Wisconsin, Tenth District

THE bargain-hunting instinct is supposed to be more or less a feminine possession, but the most incorrigible bargain hunter I ever heard of was a newspaper correspondent.

He was sent to Berlin some time after the war, when the mark was falling rapidly, and he figured that there ought to be a lot of stuff he could pick up cheap.

So he went out in search of bargains and returned to the bar of the Adlon Hotel, where the other correspondents were grouped, late one afternoon.

"Fellows," he cried, excitedly, "I've just run across the most remarkable bargain you ever heard of. What do you think of this?—I know where you can get a barrel of tattoo ink for $12."

tell—it wouldn't surprise them to see the English and German's fighting side by side a few years hence.

Nobody said, however, that it wouldn't be surprising to see the Germans and French fighting side by side.

For all that, the latter looks a good deal likelier than the former does—or that French and Englishmen will be seen fighting side by side again in a long time to come. It may seem like a queer time to predict a European continental combination, with France and Germany both in it, against Great Britain. It's logical, nevertheless. Besides being logical, it's indicated by the trend of events.

Court Fight Over Historic Coach

(From Le Petit Parisien.)

A coach which has been the center of much dispute is the one in which Napoleon traveled. It was left on the battlefield of Leipzig where Marshal Blucher took possession of it. However, on the death of the field marshal, his property was divided between two branches of the family, one German and the other English. Both laid claim to the famous coach and the dispute was carried from court to court until finally, in the first days of 1923, the supreme court of Leipzig rendered a decision giving the coach of the great emperor to the English branch of the Bluchers.

Q.—Who conceived the idea of putting chains on automobiles to keep them from skidding? B. F.

A.—Non-skid chains for automobiles were invented by Charles Algon Parsons, English inventor and shipbuilder.

Q.—What were the principles laid down in Henry George's Progress and Poverty? B. E. T.

A.—The main theses are that economic progress is marked by increasing extremes of wealth and poverty resulting from the tendency of rent to absorb all values above the minimum wages and interest and that the confiscation of rent through a single tax on land would restore democratic equality and universal prosperity.

Q.—What skins are French seal, Hudson seal, marmot and coney? G. E.

A.—French seal is rabbit skin, dyed and clipped. Hudson seal is muskrat, dyed and clipped. Marmot is woodchuck and coney is rabbit skin.

Q.—Why are the lines on the United States map that divide the time zones, zigzag instead of straight? E. Z.

A.—The Geological Survey says that time divisions on the maps are made at different railroad division points. Theoretically, they should be made on certain time meridians but for practical purposes they cannot be done as these railroad division points are not usually on the desired meridians.

Q.—Do they mint any gold now? J. L. S.

A.—The coinage of gold was resumed during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1922, nearly $53,000,000 in value having been executed.

Q.—Will a story that is copyrighted be bought by a movie company for production? M. S.

A.—The fact that a motion picture story is copyrighted would not affect its selling quality. A copyright is merely a protection to the author.

Q.—Would it be possible to put a town of 5,000 people on one of our ocean liners? A. N.

A.—It is apparently true that some of the modern steamships could accommodate the population of an entire town of 5,000 people. The cruise room for 400 average detached suburban residences of 3 rooms each, or 800 average, 4-room apartments. It could accommodate 5,200 people.

Q.—What were the Connecticut blue laws? M. W.

A.—They were laws adopted by the Colony of New Haven, Connecticut, before the middle of the eighteenth century by the Puritan administrators of the colony. They imposed restrictions on the personal freedom of the citizens, particularly with regard to observance of the Sabbath, public deportment, wearing apparel, etc.

Q.—Are there any overhead trolley wires for the surface cars on Manhattan Island? O. J. C.

A.—There are overhead trolley wires in a few cross town streets in the upper section of Manhattan, N. Y.

Q.—How long do freight cars last? C. M. W.

A.—The life of a freight car depends upon the use to which it is put. Only an estimate can be made. It is said that the average life of a box car is 20 years.

Q.—Who said "I would rather be a winner in the Olympic games than the crier who proclaimed the winners?" P. W.

A.—Plutarch says that Themistocles upon being asked whether he would rather be Achilles or Homer replied "Which would you rather be, a conqueror in the Olympic games, or the crier who proclaims those who are conquerors?"

Gov. Allen Speaks Here March 13th

Founder Of Famous Kansas Industrial Court Last Speaker On Course

Gov. Henry J. Allen of Kansas will lecture in Lawrence Memorial chapel Tuesday evening, March 13, as the last number of Community Lecture and Artist series. "A court with a heart" is the solution for labor difficulties as recommended by Gov. Allen.

Mr. Allen's recent book on the industrial court, "The Party of the Third Part," is commanding nationwide attention. According to the author, the party of the third part is the innocent and helpless public which is inevitably entangled in all warfare between capital and labor.

The industrial court which Governor Allen recommends is described as the "court that looks out beyond interest and declares in behalf of the public that the laborer is worthy of his hire and that the right to live is greater than the right to strike."

Governor Allen's extensive surveys of labor difficulties during his many years of public service have made his utterances on any industrial problem extremely valuable and authoritative.

STYLE PAGEANT EXPECTED TO BE MECCA FOR MEN

Elaborate Scenery And Pretty Gowns And Girls Creating Attention

Here is a little item that probably will be of considerable interest to the men of Appleton. Arrangements have been completed for building a runway, 50 feet long and about five feet wide, from the edge of the stage out over the seats in Lawrence Memorial chapel for the Spring style pageant to be held March 15 and 16. The models, and there will be lots of pretty ones, will walk out on this runway for the inspection of the audience.

The ticket sale now is on but it must be said there are only a limited number of seats along the runway.

The runway will be carpeted with oriental rugs of the finest quality. These rugs will be insured for $5,000 for the performances.

Harry Oaks, who is quite some comedian, will revive the character of Peter Van Zandt for the style pageant. Peter is one of the characters in "Maytime," a popular light opera of a few years ago and he will appear in the section devoted to showing the styles of Civil war days.

The scenery, which as about completed, is elaborate and massive. The old shoe which appears in one of the scenes is about nine feet high and the fashion book, from which the models step in a fashion scene, is 8 feet high. A huge silk hat also will be used in the pageant.

Rehearsals indicate a very finished performance and the interest that it is creating is indicated by the demand for tickets.

HAMLIN DEBATORS HERE TOMORROW

Affirmative College Team Will Go To St. Peter, Minn., For Contest

Another intercollegiate debate will be staged Friday evening when the affirmative team of Hamline college will meet the Lawrence negative team in Lawrence Memorial chapel. Persons interested in the League of Nations question will have an opportunity to hear a few more rousing arguments pro and con for the question. "Resolved: That the United States shall enter the league of nations." The debate is free to the public.

The Lawrence team is supported by Karl Trever of Appleton, Dan Hart of Neenah and Willard Henoch of Milwaukee. This will be the second time Lawrence has debated the question. Last week the local teams met. The Ripon affirmative team at Appleton and Carroll college negative team at Waukegan, winning both debates.

The affirmative team including Karl Windesheim, Edmond Tink and Paul Ungrodt will go to Gustavus Adolphus college at St. Peter, Minn., Friday night. Saturday night the team will meet Macalester college at St. Paul.

TO FILL VACANCY ON POLICE FORCE

Recommendation was made at the meeting of the fire and police commission Wednesday evening for the appointment of a candidate for the position of patrolman on Appleton police force. The name of the candidate is withheld, pending his medical examination.

If the appointment is made by Chief George T. Prim and confirmed by the commission, it will fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Sergeant James E. McCabe and the subsequent promotion of Detective Joseph of Patrolman Matthew McGinnis to detective. The appointee will be on probation six months. A vacancy still remains as a result of the resignation of Patrolman Samuel Ford.

Monthly reports of Chief Prim and Policewoman Mildred Gardner, as well as the annual report of Chief Prim and Chief G. P. McGinnis of the fire department were presented.

The revision of a number of rules of the fire department and police departments was commenced by the commission Wednesday evening and will be completed later.

SCHRIMPF TELLS WHY HE OPPOSED NATIONAL GUARD

Assemblyman Objects To Federal Control Of Military Force

Charles M. Schrimpf, assemblyman from the first assembly district of Outagamie-co., in a letter to the Post-Crescent blames the "system which has crept into the state guard" for the opposition which the guard encountered in the state assembly. He intimates in his letter that the Wisconsin National Guard is not under the control of the state but is regulated by the federal government and he charges that the federal government is using a form of bribery to secure state assistance for the guard.

"Editor Post-Crescent—I am receiving quite a number of letters condemning me for voting to abolish the national guard of this state. I wish to say that I honestly believe that we did one of the best acts that ever was passed for this has set everybody to talking about the national guard and the people now know more of the matter than they ever did before. If it were not for the system which has crept into our state guard this would not have come up. We do not condemn the personnel of the guard, but rather the system which has led us up to the present day, which will and is doing nothing but lead us to militaryism that was so much condemned during the World War and used against Germany.

Let me quote some of the statements from our governor which our papers were so pleased to give to its readers after our action in the Assembly: "The Guard is organized under the state law in compliance, so far as possible with the National Defense Act. Section 62 of the National Defense Act provides that the number of enlisted men of the national guard shall be for each state in the proportion of 200 such men for each United States senator and congressman from such state and shall be increased each year thereafter in the proportion of not less than 50 per cent until the total strength shall be not less than 800 enlisted men for each United States senator and congressman." In plain English this means we have 11 congressmen and 2 senators, we would have a federal guard in this state of not less than 10,400 men. Pretty big, believing as we were told, that the World war was to be the end of all wars.

Please make note of the language used. It says "shall be" and not may be. What does this mean? Just this: that we have no state guard any more but a national or federal guard. When did this take effect or become law? By Act of Congress on July 11, 1919. "Further the governor said, "On June 30, 1922, Wisconsin had federally recognized 6,900 troops. (Get that, federally recognized.) On June 30, 1923, it cost Wisconsin $161,319.26, on June 30, 1924, $162,060.90, on June 30, 1925, $162,802.24; on June 30, 1926, $174,748.45." The above sums are only what the state spends.

I have before me a paper circulated by the Wisconsin National Guard association signed by one brigadier general, five colonels and three lieutenant colonels. (Who paid for it? you ask; I don't know who is paying for this propaganda) which admits that the total federal expenditure for military purpose in Wisconsin has reached the sum of $880,000 per year in cash, in addition to furnishing all uniforms, arms and equipment. And they say to abolish the Wisconsin guard would mean that such sums provided in the federal budget would not be expended in Wisconsin. Now, what do you people call this? I call it legalized bribery, when the federal government says to us people in Wisconsin, "Increase your guard and we will give you so much, and if you don't do so you get nothing." We condemn a public official who accepts a bribe, but consider it all right for our state to do so.

The total sums admitted by the governor for June 30, 1922, and also admitted by the National Guard association, is $1,434,747.49, plus uniforms, etc., besides $150,000 for military training at the University of Wisconsin. And to think this military clique has the nerve to ask for an appropriation of $1,506,000 for three years. Do you

NEED HEALTH LAW TO LURE TOURIST

Wisconsin Will Lose Business If Resorts Are Not Sanitary, Baker Says

Madison — Wisconsin may lose a considerable part of the $8,000,000 annual income from tourists unless laws are passed to protect them. This was the warning sounded by C. M. Baker, state sanitary engineer, before the senate committee on education and public welfare, in speaking in favor of a bill which would enable resort owners to combine in sanitary districts for the installation of sanitary plumbing, Wednesday afternoon.

"Unless Wisconsin resort keepers want to see their trade going to Minnesota and Michigan they will have to begin to take measures for the safety and protection of their tourists. This act opens the way for improvement even if it is in no way obligatory," Baker said.

Since most of these resorts are occupied only in the summer they cannot incorporate as villages, and special legislation is necessary to provide these sanitary arrangements be instituted.

"Inadequate disposal of sewage and impure water supplies are responsible for outbreaks of dysentery among the summer colonies. Sewage is not absorbed by the soil and seeps into the water where it endangers the lives of bathers and kills the fish," Baker declared.

Michigan and Minnesota have already provided such laws and Wisconsin must do the same if she would hold her tourist trade, he said.

ROTARIANS INVITED TO VISIT FORD BRANCH PLANT

Appleton Rotary club has received an invitation from O. H. Perkins, assistant manager of the Milwaukee branch of the Ford Motor company to visit that institution while attending the tenth district conference in that city, March 15 and 16. The invitation reads:

"We understand the Appleton Rotary club will be represented at the conference of Rotary clubs at Milwaukee, March 15 and 16. We wish to take this opportunity to extend to you an invitation to go through the Milwaukee branch of the Ford Motor company while in the city."

EMMA PATTEN HOYT IN NEW YORK SONG RECITAL

Emma Patten Hoyt, former Appleton woman, appeared in a song recital in Aeolian hall, New York, Tuesday afternoon. The character of the recital can be judged from the song prices which ranged from $16 for the boxes to 50 cents in the gallery. Mrs. Hoyt is under the management of Evelyn Hopper of New York.

blame us for the action we took?

At the hearing held before the state affairs committee Thursday, March 1, 1923, who appeared against this bill? Byron Beveridge was the brigadier general. He gave orders who was to speak and thus is what came forth. Six or seven officers from Adjutant General down to a member of the American Legion (whether he was an officer or not, I do not know) four preachers and two women appeared. I have been asking myself this question after hearing the preachers, "Is it any wonder that Christianity appears to be more or less a failure?" Here is the strangest part of it, not one of them said to reduce the appropriation but rather demanded to have what they asked for in the first place.

Closing my letter I wish to say, if we had our old state guard I honestly believe that this great opposition would never have come. Again I ask do you blame me?

Alimony Is Not Taxable; Heart Balm Payment Is

Status Of These Forms Of Income Is Explained By A. W. Wilkinson

Did you receive alimony during the year 1922? Were you able to make a former sweetheart pay you heart balm because he spurned your affections?

These are personal questions, no doubt, but the federal government is very much interested in them, according to A. W. Wilkinson, internal revenue collector for Wisconsin. He says these questions might figure prominently in preparation of income tax returns for last year.

Mr. Wilkinson says that alimony is not taxable income. Such payments do not have to be included in the income tax return of the person receiving them, nor may they be deducted from the gross income of the person paying them. In this respect payment of alimony may be likened to a personal or living expense, which is not deductible. However, a woman who has won a breach of promise case, or has accepted out of court a settlement as heart balm, must include the amount in her income tax return. The bureau of Internal Revenue has ruled in such cases that the amount received "is not to be regarded as a return of capital, since the benefits of which the injured party was deprived were merely anticipatory."

Members of a labor union may deduct as a business expense dues paid to such organizations during the year 1922, Mr. Wilkinson advises. Such dues are held by the bureau to be necessary expenses incident to the earning of their wages. A member of a labor union who, while on strike receives payment from an organization must include in his income for the year such items.

The taxpayer who in 1922 recovered damages for defamation of personal character need not include in his return such amount, inasmuch as it has been held to be non-taxable income. The revenue act specifically exempts amounts received through accident or health insurance, or under workmen's compensation acts as compensation for personal injuries or illness, plus any additional amount received by suit or agreement in such cases.

Expert advice on preparation of income reports can be obtained from the city hall where Miss E. M. Hillburg is prepared to assist in the work. Returns must be filed on or before midnight of March 15 to avoid penalties.

SCHOOL ORCHESTRA PLANS MUSICAL

The First ward school orchestra, which made its first public appearance at the Parent Teachers meeting Monday evening is attracting a good deal of attention. The orchestra had had only six rehearsals but surprised the crowd with the quality of its music.

Following is the personnel of the organization:

Piano, Ramona Huesman.
Saxophones, Norbert Stammer and Robert Shepherd.
Drums, Frank Murphy.
Violinello, Lawrence Osterhaus.
Violins — Eleanor Voecks, Erwin Rooks, Janet Carncross, Chester Davis, Robert Miller, Carl Wettengel and Dorothy Warner.

The orchestra is making plans for a musical to be given soon.

John Newcombe of Freedom, manager of the Newcombe orchestra, who submitted to an operation in St. Elizabeth hospital last week, is reported to be greatly improved.

Dishwashing Makes Hands Pretty this new way

A special soap for the woman who does her own work!

A famous American woman said to us, "You soap makers have given us beautiful faces, now help us have beautiful hands."

And that gave us the idea.

So we perfected a bland soap for kitchen and laundry work. A soap that cannot spoil dainty hands.

It embodies radical new principles — soothing Olive Oil combined with quick cleansing ingredients, neutral to the skin.

Wash dishes with it three times daily. Do your own laundry work, if you wish. Soak your hands in it—and it will make them pretty!

Pretty hands and wash tubs!

The name of this new soap is Green Arrow. It contains none of the adulterants which make up 25 to 50% of old-fashioned laundry soaps.

A chemical analysis of 28 so-called "popular" soaps showed "filler" in 27 of them.

Lovely hands every woman's right

No need to lament the soft and lovely hands of your girlhood. Try Green Arrow one week. Then note your hands. No longer will they tell kitchen secrets to the world. You will not be ashamed to show them.

And—it will cost you only 5c more a month. For you can't figure the price of soap per bar, but per month.

Your grocer has Green Arrow Soap. Just use it for a week.

Why Tell the World you do your own work?

Rough, ugly hands tell a story to the world. A story of the kitchen, the laundry, the scrub bucket.

Most women do housework. But few want to tell it to every chance acquaintance.

Most laundry soaps contain 25 to 50% water glass. This adulterant, technically known as silicate of soda, is invariably accompanied by an excess of caustic.

It is this "filler"—not soap—that ruins hands. Green Arrow is made with the precision of a toilet soap and is pure soap.

Now you can have white and lovely hands regardless of how much kitchen work you do.

For your hands and your clothes sake, go to your grocer and insist on buying GREEN ARROW.

Hidden qualities largely determine the value and life of a closed car.

Beauty of line and finish and refinements are surface indications and important ones. But your satisfaction with a closed car depends to a great degree upon factors that are unseen—the in-built qualities that come from correct design, use of highest grade materials and careful workmanship.

It is impossible to get more out of a car than the maker has built into it.

The 23 series Studebaker Light-Six Sedan is a quality car. It is built to endure—to give lasting satisfaction. Both body and chassis are produced in Studebaker plants where painstaking craftsmanship has always been the rule and the practice. And Studebaker has been building quality vehicles for seventy-one years.

The Sedan body is substantially built. It will last for years and retain its beauty and comfort. Evidence of its hidden goodness lies in the fact that down under the paint and varnish, the pillars, roof rails and supporting members are made from specially selected ash. Good ash is expensive but Studebaker uses it because it best combines the proper strength and weight.

Four wide-opening doors make it easy for all passengers to get in or out without inconvenience to each other. A high-grade heater affords summer warmth on cold, damp days. The wide windows give broad vision in every direction.

When you buy a Light-Six Sedan you are really accepting the judgment of 100,000 owners who have found the Light-Six chassis so satisfactory.

Studebaker quality is traditional.

STATE TRIANGLE DEBATING LEAGUE MEETS ON FRIDAY

Twenty-Six Schools Have Won Right To Debate In Second Round

Returns in the first lap of the Wisconsin interscholastic debating league, sponsored by Lawrence college among high schools of the state have been computed and winners announced and arrangements made for the second round of the contest to decide the state winner. Approximately eighty high schools participated in the first matches, with twenty-six having won the right to go into the second round. The question concerns the application of the Kansas Industrial court plan to railway labor disputes.

The twenty-six winners, listed according to the triangles they will participate in in the second lap, are as follows: Milwaukee (Washington & Lincoln High), Atkinson-Lodi, Marinette, Rhinelander-Wausau, Algoma-Casco-Billion, Hartford-Waupun, Beaver Dam, Cumberland-New Richmond, Ellsworth, Stanley-Augusta-Humbird, Stevens Point-Iola-Shiocton, Chippewa Falls-Ladysmith-Superior, and Tomah-Madison.

Winners in the second round, besides further participation leading toward the state championship, are presented with a banner. The winners will debate in the triangles mentioned Friday night, March 9.

FOR THE FARMER

CANNING FACTORY ADDS TO WEALTH OF HORTONVILLE

Farmers And Villagers Are Reaping Benefits From New Industry

BY W. F. WINSEY

Aside from dairying and the cultivation of crops upon which that industry depends, the production of great quantities of potatoes, and hog raising, the farmers about Hortonville have been raising a considerable tonnage of peas, beans and cabbage for a number of years to supply the needs of a canning factory located in the village, to furnish employment to a large number of village people and to add materially to the profits of farming.

The Hortonville factory changed ownership, name and management a year ago. Since those changes were made, it has been owned, enlarged, modernized and operated by the Fox Valley Canning Co. Other factories in Outagamie county canneries, this is the only one that can peas and beans and sauerkraut.

Vineyard stations for the Hortonville factory are located in Dale, Ellington, Greenville, Grand Chute and Clayton. Last year the Hortonville factory canned 700 acres of peas, 40 acres of cabbage was converted into sauerkraut and 150 acres of beans were canned.

This year contracts guaranteeing prices have been made with farmers for 200 acres of beans, 300 acres of cabbage and 1,000 acres of peas. The land about Hortonville is admirably adapted to the cultivation of these three varieties of farm products. An average yield of peas per acre in that vicinity is 2,300 pounds, netting the farmer $50.00 but some farmers owing to better soil and cultivation get a net income per acre from peas of $80.00 or more. Some of course get less than the $50.00 average.

Think the majority of crops that reduce or exhaust the fertility of the soil, peas drawing a large part of their nourishment from the air, increase the fertility and prepare the land for a subsequent crop of alfalfa or red clover according to the statement of W. L. Schroeder, manager of the Fox Valley Canning Co. Mr. Schroeder said that he invariably recommends the sowing of red clover or alfalfa with peas.

VINES FED TO CATTLE.
After the peas are vined, the vines are stacked in the open, turned into pea silage by some chemical action, probably fermentation, and carted away later by farmers to be fed to dairy cows or fattening cattle.

The feed value of pea silage, ton for ton, is the equivalent of that of red clover or alfalfa and the silage is a great milk producer.

The Fox Valley Canning Co. supplies farmers with seed for sowing, makes contracts for acreage and guarantees the price, but the farmers cultivate the crop.

When the pea harvest is on and the factory and vines running full blast, the names of 100 workers are on the pay roll of the company.

The Hortonville canning factory has been operated by the Fox Valley Canning Co. only a year but it has grown wonderfully during that short time and bids fair to house an industry soon of indispensable financial importance to the people of Hortonville and the farmers about the village.

Music Proves Favorite Diversion During Lent

Dances, card parties and hilarious forms of entertainment having been tabooed during lent by various denominations, Appleton people seem to be turning to music as a means of occupying themselves. According to local dealers in musical instruments, the sales have been especially big since lent began and are continuing so.

Phonographs have been one of the biggest sellers and pianos almost a close second. Two of the local music stores have been practically sold out of all desirable instruments in both kinds and have received a complete new stock. It seems people have been unusually desirous of devoting their spare moments to the enjoyment of good music, and with most ordinary forms of entertainment for the time being denied them they are turning to music as a pastime.

And the music which is being purchased for the new phonograph is not entirely popular either, for the better class of instrumental and vocal selections is asked for. A large number of the best artists have again become the idols of many local music lovers.

Other musical instruments have been popular as well but they require some effort of owners in learning to play. What seems to be the desire at present is something to interest and entertain during the present quiet moments of the musical instruments guitars and tenor banjos have been among the best sellers. Children have been seeking mouth organs.

JOHN SCHWAMMER DIES AT HOSPITAL

Illness Contracted While At County Board Meeting Proves Fatal

John Schwammer 55, of Center, a member of the county board of supervisors, died Thursday morning at St. Elizabeth hospital after a short illness. He was taken ill while attending the meeting of the county board last week and was absent during the greater part of the session. He was chairman of his town for 12 years and was treasurer also of his school district. His survivors are his widow; three sons and one daughter, John, Jr., at home; Arnold, town of Center, Walter, Birnamwood; Mrs. Arnold Mollet, Kimberly; his mother; two sisters, Mrs. Jacob Loos, Ellington; Mrs. Hubert Fassbender, Appleton, and four grandchildren.

The funeral will be held at 1 o'clock Sunday afternoon from his home in Center and at 2 o'clock from Ellington church. The Rev. E. Redlin will have charge of the services. The interment will be in Ellington cemetery. Owing to the funeral in the afternoon, the Rev. Mr. Medlin will conduct his morning services at 11 o'clock at Stephensville church in stead of in Ellington church and will hold the Ellington services in connection with the funeral.

Baer Camp Indorses U. S. Move To Equalize Status With Other Soldiers

The Charles O. Baer camp of the Spanish-American War veterans took action Tuesday evening on two matters of legislation, one a bill in the state legislature, the other in the United States congress and senate.

The adjutant in the camp was instructed to draw up a resolution indorsing the maintenance of the Wisconsin National guard to abolish attempts in legislature to abolish or curtail it. The resolution will be sent to Assemblymen Anton Miller and Charles Schimpf and State Senator Anton Kueck.

Indorsement was also given the bills in the United States senate and the house of representatives during the last session of congress favoring the placing of the Spanish-American war veterans on an equal footing with the Civil war and World war veterans, as far as pensions and hospitalization are concerned. Until recently nothing had been done for these veterans.

The committee of arrangements charged with making preparations for the celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the Spanish-American war was given an extension of time to make a report.

It was decided that the choice of a speaker by the Grand Army of the Republic for Memorial day would be acceptable also to the Spanish-American war veterans.

FARMERS URGED TO BACK MOVEMENT FOR T. B. CLEANUP

Culbertson Urges Response To Petitions So Enough Will Have Signed

Farmers interested in freeing Outagamie cattle from tuberculosis are preparing to take an active part in securing the signatures of 60 per cent of the cattle owners of the county to secure a state tuberculosis test. The county board at its last session endorsed the movement and instructed the county clerk and agent to make the necessary preparations.

One of the most ardent supporters of this movement is H. M. Culbertson of Greenville, well known farmer, member of the county board and formerly state senator. He has written to the Post-Crescent urging the farmers to back up this movement and at the same time pointing out that there still are dairymen who consider tuberculosis tests as nonsense in spite of the many proofs that hundreds of deaths have been caused by using milk obtained from diseased cattle.

Mr. Culbertson's letter follows: "The county board did a very meritorious act for the public in its recent session when it voted to encourage the application of the tubercular test to all cattle in the county. The movement must be started by securing the signature of approval of 60 per cent of all cattle owners of the county. Then if the number of applicants is not in excess of the money available by the state to test the same, the work will be taken up."

"It is surprising to know the number of cattle owners not interested in or opposed to this work of ridding their premises of cows which often are almost walking pus pockets. In fatal organs more or less in a stage of decomposition are sickening to almost any person when exposed to public slaughter. Then why wait longer?"

"A public speaker recently observed a man in his audience showing much grief, and upon inquiry learned that this man had recently buried his son, the second to die from a tubercular infection. This son, analysis showed had bovine (cattle) tuberculosis. Later the man had his cows tested and found that everyone had the disease. Similar things are occurring all the time."

"Possibly milk is being used by a family from some particularly healthy looking cow, but when the test is applied, the animal is found to have the disease in a very advanced stage. A slight or even the thought of such an occurrence when the final slaughter test is applied and the animal is found to be affected is sickening to any user of milk."

"The county clerk was instructed to report at once to the state veterinarian that the county desires to come under the so-called area tests so as to be in the successive order of applicants, and he is to secure the blank for signatures."

"There will no doubt be much opposition, as there are still many who think it nonsense to secure the 60 per cent signatures will be no easy accomplishment. There is a reason why the public should learn the importance of cleanup of meat, milk and possibly of cheese. Calves and hogs in great numbers get the disease from skim milk, therefore the importance of eradication for human welfare."

"The state compensates the unfortunate cattle owner for his slaughtered stock, but it is quite probable that this will not be continued much longer."

"Milk contains a large percentage of food units which any living creature can use, better than any other food. The high food value makes milk one of the cheapest foods on the market; therefore a determined effort in every town of the county should be made to secure the necessary signatures."

"The town of Greenville is now about 95 per cent tuberculosis tested."

$33,143 PAID BY COUNTY TO STATE

Offset Of $103,903 Is Deducted From Annual Levy For State Expenses

Outagamie county's contribution to the cost of operating the state, as represented by taxes on real estate amounted to $33,143 for 1923, according to a statement issued by Solomon Levitan, state treasurer. Two counties, Marinette and Chippewa, not only contributed nothing in the way of real estate taxes, but received checks from the state because of their connection with the state.

The law permits the counties to use as offsets against the state tax levies the amounts they appropriate for the use of schools, chronic insane and sanatoria within their boundaries. Outagamie county's total levy for 1923 for state purposes was $137,046 and its offset, under the law, is $103,903, leaving $33,143 which is to be paid to the state.

The total state tax of all the counties amounts to $4,110,059, according to Mr. Levitan. In addition to this special charges aggregating $800,000 and loans for school and other purposes aggregating a little over a million was to be collected, making a total of $5,910,059 due from the counties before the offsets are deducted. These offsets total more than $4,000,000, leaving only $8,663,321 to be paid to the state.

Milwaukee county has a total tax of $1,277,478 and offsets this with $12,986, leaving only $464,492 actually paid. Brown county's total tax is $166,669, offset, $107,910, leaving $58,759 to be paid in cash. Winnebago county paid only $40,577 after the offsets had been deducted from the total state tax levy.

Meaning Of The Chamber Of Commerce

MANAGEMENT EXPLAINED
The question today is: "Who is going to run the Appleton Chamber of Commerce?"

Answer: The members are going to run it. A board of directors is elected to carry out the wishes of the membership as far as possible. The plans of the revised program of work which will be written from the suggestions of the members are in group meetings will guide the directors. The program of the reorganized forum will be such as to give the members opportunities to inform the directors of the thinking of the membership. The forum will also hear plans and tentative reports of committees. The chairman of the forum committee will in no case be a member of the board of directors, but represents the membership.

The importance of the members' forum will be emphasized in the expanded chamber. It will be a medium of communication between the officers and directors and the membership. The forum meetings will be so conducted that they will reach the individual members, they will be thoroughly alive and representative of the membership as a whole. The board of directors' function is to direct. Its members always welcome clear cut recommendations from a well organized members' forum.

The election machinery is of the simplest character. Each member has a vote for the individuals who are to comprise the nominating committee. The nominating committee then selects the men who are to run for directorships, proposing twice the number to be chosen. Thus the men elected to the board of directors will be the ones receiving the highest number of votes cast secretly and uninfluenced by any other consideration than merit. One third of the directors will be new each year, this feature insuring the continuity of action of both the board and the chamber. If any change in election plan is desired, it can be brought about in a regular or a special membership meeting.

The whole purpose of the chamber of commerce, first and last, will be to bring together the capable and responsible men and women of the community and lead them to think and work for the good of the community. (Tomorrow, the fourth question, "How Will the Appleton Chamber of Commerce Be Financed?" will be answered.)

CATLIN IS HONORED FOR INSURANCE SALES RECORD

A pair of solid gold cuff links was received Tuesday by Frank P. Catlin, local agent for the Equitable Life Assurance society of the United States, in recognition of having written the second largest amount of insurance of all the Wisconsin agents of the society. Similar gifts were given to each of the ten agents with the highest records.

Magazine Is Entirely Work Of Student Body

The student publication of the vocational school for the month of February is off the press and contains news of the activities at the school during the last month. This paper, The Excelsior, takes the place of the Vocational News which was the student publication last year.

The paper is put out entirely by the student printers of the school, boys and girls. They work hard on the paper and their reporters are always busy collecting news which will furnish work for the print shop.

The publication contains accounts of the school basketball games, club meetings and parties within the last month. There are also a few short editorials and some items of humor. One of the funny columns is entitled, "Monet Us" and contains personals which tell of funny things to be seen about school. A number of them are incidents concerning teachers.

An annual magazine will be published at the close of the school year. It will contain general information about the school and the work which is being done. The staff of The Excelsior includes: Editor, Herman Giffin, assistant editor, Carl Wenzlaff, business manager, Arthur Pinner, personals, Dorothy Schroeder and Lillian Klare.

"A QUESTION OF HONOR" FROM FAMOUS NOVEL

"A Question of Honor," a First National-Louis B. Mayer attraction starring Anita Stewart, comes to the Elite Theatre on Friday and Saturday. "A Question of Honor" was adapted from the famous Ruth Cross story of romance, adventure and conflict.

The story of "A Question of Honor" stirred up a nation-wide interest when it ran serially in the People's Home Journal a year ago. Combining virile action with subtle satire and tense drama, it affords Anita Stewart wonderful opportunities for good, human characterization and stirring emotional portrayal.

$300,000 WILL BE SPENT IN CITY FOR PHONE EXTENSIONS

Appleton To Benefit From Five-Year Program Of Wisconsin Company

Approximately $300,000 is to be expended by the Wisconsin Telephone Co. in Appleton over a five-year period, Harry M. Fellows, local manager, announced on Thursday. This work will be part of a $30,000,000 program for the state of Wisconsin and will provide continuous work for construction crews. It also is expected to help stabilize general industrial conditions in this community and in the state.

The huge expenditure for Appleton will, it is said, include additions to the main office equipment, reconstruction and additions to poles, aerial cable, aerial wire, underground conduit and underground and submarine cables.

The telephone company now operates 4,957 telephones in Appleton, an increase of 300 stations over last year and it is expected the number will have increased to 5,300 in 1927. More than 20,000 calls are handled at the central office every day.

"We telephone people of Appleton," Mr. Fellows said, "are proud of the fact that Appleton was a pioneer in telephone history. Growth has been rapid and only by constant progress has telephone development been able to keep pace. More than three hundred stations were added during 1922 and this growth will continue. We hope, with the aid of this new construction to be able to do our larger job during the years to come just as efficiently as the smaller job has been done in the past and wherever possible to improve it."

The Ladies of the Evangelical Church will hold a Food Sale, Saturday, March 10 at Brandt Salesrooms.

NURSE POSSIBLE ONLY THRU BOARD

Health Committee Has No Power To Use $2,000 Now Appropriated

The question of whether this county will have another county nurse this year is entirely dependent upon the further attitude of the county board, in the opinion of local promoters of a county public health program.

No additional appropriation was granted last week by the board, as Mrs. James A. Wood, chairman of the county health committee, had requested. Neither was any action taken in regard to engaging a nurse. At the November session the board granted $1,500 for her salary and $500 for expenses, whereas the former appropriation was $1,800. The board's sympathy to public health work gave little encouragement to the advocates of a health program.

It was suggested by some that the health committee engage a nurse, paying her $1,500 for the remainder of the year. But the committee has not been given authority to engage a nurse, according to Mrs. Wood, that being a prerogative of the board. The next session will not be held until some time in April.

Some of the members of the board are meanwhile anticipating that the state legislature will soon pass the bill making the employment of nurses optional with the counties.

The Ladies of the Evangelical Church will hold a Food Sale, Saturday, March 10 at Brandt Salesrooms.

Notice today how you unconsciously watch a person's teeth when he or she is talking to you.

MANY people don't realize it. But everyone does it as a matter of instinct. The eye always turns in the direction of a sound. And in conversation you automatically watch the lips and teeth of the person talking.

When your teeth are not properly cleaned, they become a direct liability—both in business and socially. To a great many people, the sight of unclean teeth is something positively revolting. It distracts them from what you say and they take away only an unfavorable impression about you.

Getting ahead in life, or getting along just "so-so" often hinges upon some "big-little" thing like this.

Only the right dentifrice—consistently used—will protect you against such criticism. Listerine Tooth Paste cleans teeth a new way. The first tube you buy (25 cents) or the free sample (see coupon) will prove this to you.

You will notice the improvement even in the first few days. And, moreover, just as Listerine is the safe antiseptic, so Listerine Tooth Paste is the safe dentifrice. It cleans yet it cannot injure the enamel.

What are your teeth saying about you today?

Modern Styles
Putting End To
Age Of Mammals

The modern girl is rougher than the average man of 400,000 years ago—when it comes to destroying animals. Nothing in this history of creation, II. E. Anthony, associate curator of mammals of the American Museum said recently, can parallel the ravages of the fur and hide trade to satisfy the fashion whims of modern today. The present rate of destruction of mammals throughout the world, he estimated, is probably not less than 50 million a year, of which 30 million represent the demands of the fur trade. Extinction of large animals has been going on for a century, but the extermination of the small mammals has been extremely rapid in the last two decades. Muskrat, squirrel, mole, raccoon, opossum, formerly slightly valued for fur, have been relentlessly pursued to satisfy the demands of fashion.

Europe, North America, Asia and Africa have eliminated their wild animals through similar causes. Food supply, for supply, industry, art, agriculture and deforestation, and in a minor degree sport, all have helped. When cave men first began the destruction of mammals for food and clothing they were probably less destructive with their primitive weapons than most of the larger predatory animals.

The fur trade, he emphasized, is now threatening to bring to a close the age of mammals which began 3 million years ago. The use of furs for protection, he declared, has long since passed. Now it is fashion that demands them.

NORMA TALMADGE'S
Manners
By Norma Talmadge

EVERY marriage engagement sets up a new social institution, a new home. And this is true whether those engaged plan to live in a cottage or a mansion. Therefore it behooves the engaged couple to build a solid social foundation. In this it is the duty of both their families to co-operate wholeheartedly.

ENGAGEMENTS

- 1: Immediately after obtaining a young woman's consent to marry him, a man should ask her parents' sanction, making, if asked, a straightforward statement of his financial standing.
- 2: The next day after the young woman's parents approve the engagement the man's parents, or nearest relatives, should call on the parents of the bride-to-be.
- 3: Announcement can be made at social affairs, by letters or through the newspapers, but should come first from the young woman's family.
- 4: The young man should consult his fiancée's preference as to the style of the engagement ring; she wears it first in public the day the engagement is announced.
- 5: Before the wedding the two families should meet each other, first at luncheon or dinner at the groom's home, then at the bride's home.

It's Bad Manners for a woman to retain the engagement ring after an engagement is broken.

Adventures Of
The Twins

Now For That Broom

Mother Goose's broom was lost and Nancy and Nick were hunting for it.

Mother Goose told them that there wasn't a doubt in her mind that one of her own people had stolen it, or borrowed it, or taken it—or whatever you wish to call it.

And she needed it terribly.

Not only were the crows getting bad, but Mother Goose used her broom for other things besides.

For one thing, she rode it. It was quite as necessary as the Fairy Queen's wings were to her, or the Magic Green Shoes were to the Twins, or your bicycle to you, or your daddy's automobile is to him.

For another thing, she used it to keep order. Not that many of her people needed a broomstick, but there were times when it was necessary. Take Tom, the Piper's son, for instance, who stole a pig. The book says the pig was eaten (quite wrong—it should be "eaten") and Tom was beat, but it doesn't say who beat him or what beat him. So it must have been Mother Goose's magical broomstick.

For another thing, Mother Goose loved her broomstick dearly, and she didn't wish to lose it.

So you see how important it was for her to get it back.

"Now, my dears," she said to the Twins as they were starting off, "here is a paper with the names of all my subjects on it. Each one lives on a star in the sky, and your Green Shoes will take you there in a hurry. "Humpty Dumpty's friends may know where my broom is, for it is true that he is smashed, no doubt the King needs my broom to sweep him up. Suppose you go there first."

FLAPPER WILL SETTLE DOWN
BETTER FOR HER EXPERIENCES

BY MRS. WINNIFRED M. HUCK
Congresswoman-at-Large From Illinois

(Copyright, 1922, NEA Service, Inc.)

Modernism, as expressed by the check-the-check, dance, smoking by girls and other extravaganzas, is to my mind foolish, but not necessarily dangerous.

Personally I am not in favor of women "wearing nicotine," as the phrase goes. This "from a health standpoint alone, however.

It cannot be argued that woman, merely because she is a woman, should not smoke. To admit that would be to grant that man, merely because he is man, ought not to do things women do.

This age is setting aside a lot of foolish Victorian ideas premised on accepted inequality between the sexes.

Principally 1923 stands for emancipation—though it is to be regretted that some few have misconstrued liberty for license, and thus prejudice the thinking world against those who seek to use their new freedom to good advantage.

The flapper is not to be misjudged by that type of parasite who exploits new manners for evil ends.

The flapper may be a bit intoxicated with the joyful ecstasy of her liberty.

Like a captive just released from long bondage, she perhaps rushes about, too glad in her moment of freedom to realize what it is all about or to care to comprehend the reason for it all.

Give her time and she is going to settle down, none the worse for her gambol on the green, but much wiser and stronger for the experience.

Rouge on the cheek or powder on the nose is by no means a sign of instability of the wearer.

Given a good mother, a good home and right environment all around the girl or boy entering into the new-fangled world today will very early learn to discriminate between what will harm and what not.

Extremes to every bad, to every epoch, to every reconstruction, are not good. They are bad. But they are a negligible minority among our young folks today.

Let our boys and girls play, I say. Give them your love and especially your confidence, hold their love and confidence, and nothing can befall them.

Talk with your children; treat them as pals, not as mere subjects to obey you.

That is the whole secret to the thing.

You know what was said about a soft answer. It turns away wrath—and coupled with love makes mutual confidence of fathers and mothers, sons and daughters.

See to it that your boy or girl is leading a healthful normal life with plenty of wholesome athletic and social recreation.

Elephant Hair
Bracelet Is New

New York—Paris is forever trumping up something new in the way of novelties and luck pieces. The latest is the elephant hair bracelet, which as yet has not apparently reached America, or if it has it is not yet popularized, but it is worn by many fair Parisians.

As a luck charm the elephant hair bracelet differs somewhat from other charms and is contradictory to the old adage, "Lucky at cards, unlucky in love," as it is warranted by those who believe in it, to bring luck at Monte Carlo or in love's moonlit or sunlit secluded realm. In fact it is hard to tell whether it was first put on the market as a gambling charm or a love charm, so interwoven in its mystic power have the two become.

At any rate they are wearing them—these elephant hair bracelets—in Paris, and the bits of hair plucked from the tail of the biggest animal of our day will no doubt soon find their way across the ocean to the wrist of the summer girl of 1923.

The elephant's hair is much heavier and stronger than the horse's hair, of which we once manufactured jewelry. The new bracelet is just one strand of hair, or two or three, as the wearer desires, clasped with an ivory, jade, gold, silver or precious stone clasp. Expensive or inexpensive, to suit the purse which goes to Monte Carlo, or just stays home to be worn, the elephant hair bracelet is no respecter of persons, provided the persons be of the gender feminine.

Household
Suggestions

WHITENS THE WASHING

Your white clothes will be much whiter if you add a teaspoon of powder to the wash.

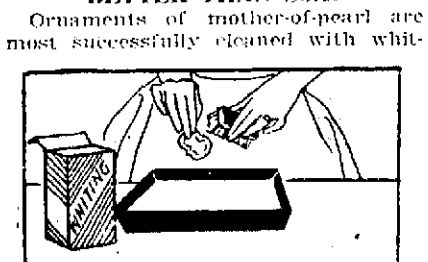

TAKES OUT SPOTS

The grease spots on the wall paper will disappear when thoroughly rubbed with camphorated alkali.

BETTER THAN SOAP

Ornaments of mother-of-pearl are most successfully cleaned with white soap.

ing and cold water. Soap is apt to discolor them.

SOFA PILLOW FILLING

At a fraction the cost of feathers you can make sofa pillow fillings as light as down.

Cut a package of cotton into small squares, put them in a pan and keep them in an oven for half an hour, being careful that they do not scorch.

Each tiny piece will swell to twice its original size and have practically no weight.

COOKING HINTS

To prevent a bowl from whirling all over the table when you are stirring with one hand and adding some ingredients with the other, lay a towel folded into double thickness under the bowl. This saves time and temper.

When stewing prunes add a slice of lemon and a few cloves. It is a decided improvement.

To prevent salt becoming damp in the shaker, mix well one teaspoon of cornstarch with one cup of salt. Put into shakers and you will always have dry salt.

To remove fresh coffee stains from table linen, dampen a cloth with cold water and rub gently. One or two applications will usually be sufficient. This can often be done without leaving the table.

Hold tomatoes over the gas flame for a few seconds and the skin will come off without heating the tomato.

When baking angel-cake do not use a cake-pan that has ever been greased, and do not remove it from the pan until about two hours after it is done. It can then be taken out very easily.

After peeling onions, rub a little dry mustard on the hands, rinse with cold water and all onion odor will be gone.—From the March Designer.

GOOD MANNERS

Though a few people still insist that the typewriter is for business only and insulting when used socially, today's custom permits typewritten letters for nearly all occasions. However, commercial paper should not be used for social correspondence, a wide margin should be left at the top, bottom and the sides of the page, and the signature, either to a business or social letter, should be in pen and ink.

LETTER FROM LESLIE HAMILTON TO HER FIANCE, JOHN ALDEN PRESCOTT

I have just finished reading, dear heart, the sweetest love letter a woman ever received.

I was somewhat surprised to read its outspoken love, for notwithstanding you have been a very satisfactory lover, yet always when I have been with you and you have said it, there seemed to be a little reticence on your part, as though you did not say to me all the things that you were thinking, but in this first love letter you have ever written to me you have seemed to pour out your entire soul. Oh John, if you could know how happy I am over it!

Yes, dear, we were made for each other. I am sure that I, too, have been hunting you, not only all this life, but in all the lives before I met you. Perhaps I did meet you some time in those far off days. Perhaps that is why our souls rushed together again at the meeting of our lips.

Did meet me at the train and before I had fairly said, "Hello, daughter," I began to tell him about you. Before I was half through he said, "Stop a minute. Let's get this thing straight." And then he asked me the funniest questions: how many times you had called upon me during the day, how many times you had left your business to "fool" around with me, how many times we had gone to the theater together, could you dance well, were you an inveterate smoker, and last he asked me the most preposterous question of all—he asked me how much you were earning, dear.

I knew I blushed for it seemed so indecent, somehow. I told him I could not answer that; that we had in a cursory way talked of living expenses and you told me that "we would have to economize." The first few years of our married life," but that I really could not make our love a commercial understanding.

I explained to him that I had told you that I did not expect to live as he and mother lived, and I gently reminded him that before he was a steel magnate he was a steel worker at $8 a day, and that he and mother lived on that and raised Alice and me until I was five years old and she was three.

I looked at me rather quizzically and said: "Yes, Leslie, your mother did every bit of the work, including washing, in our home the first two years of our married life."

I could not help laughing at this, dear; I could not picture my mother with her beautiful clothes and the gorgeous background of the finest home in Sharon, ever bending over a washbub.

You see, dear, I am very confidential with you; I am determined to have no secrets from you either staring from out my past or bobbing up in the future, and I am sure you will have no secrets from me.

But to get back to father: I really laughed when he told me that little story about mother, and explained to him that it wouldn't be as bad as that with you and me; that nowadays we sent our laundry out of the home and lived in apartments where someone came in daily to help us clean up. I thought, John dear, that my father looked at me rather pityingly. He would never do that, had he seen you, I am sure.

Isn't it strange that old people never understand? You would think that my father and mother were never young. I am sure that dear old dad never wrote to mother a love letter in any way like the one that is just now resting over my heart.

I haven't seen any one of my girl friends yet; in fact, I have not had time since I arrived even to let them know that I am home. Mother and I have been planning when it shall be and where it shall be.

We have decided on St. James Church at high noon, some time next month. I shall have to have at least six bridesmaids because if I do not some one of my most intimate girl friends would feel quite out of it.

Alice, my younger sister, surprised me last night by remarking, "I think these big weddings are all nonsense. You can make up your mind, sister, that when I marry, I shall go down to the city hall and after getting the license, walk into the office of some justice of the peace and walk out a wife."

Oh, I forgot—father gave me two thousand dollars to buy my furniture with, and mother remarked that it wouldn't go very far. She told me afterward that she would add another husband to it. Won't we have fun spending it, dear? I am going to wait until after we are married and see what all the wedding presents are before I spend one cent of it. Now isn't your little wife-to-be be practical? I love you, always, LESLIE.

TOMORROW: John Alden Prescott receives a letter from his prospective mother-in-law.

RIBBON SANDWICHES
By Bertha E. Shapleigh

Remove crust from a loaf of white bread. Cut into slices an eighth of an inch thick.

Work half a cup of butter with a green until creamy. Color it green, using spinach juice or color paste, and mix with one-fourth cup of grated horseradish. Season with salt, and spread the bread with this mixture, placing one slice upon another until the sandwich consists of 10 layers.

Press firmly together, and put in a cool place until time to serve; then cut these piles into slices one-fourth inch thick.

If it's necessary to keep the sandwiches for some time wrap in a napkin wrung out of hot water, or in wax paper.

Ribbon sandwiches can be made very attractive by placing various red, green and yellow fillings between the slices of bread. Repeat this twice. Chopped pimientos with cheese, green peppers, ham and hard-cooked egg make good fillings combined with butter or mayonnaise.

DINNER GOWNS

A very smart dinner gown is of black georgette printed with large leaves in shades of rose and pink. It is trimmed with black lace and the skirt is caught up in an interesting drapery.

FOR A DEBUTANTE

An evening frock for a debutante of pink gros de Londres, with a buff skirt draped over two flounces of cream-colored lace with gold braid. The girl is of old blue velvet.

Woman Runs Budget Of Big
State As She'd Run A Home

BY GENE COHN
Sacramento, Calif. — California's finances are bossed by a woman—Mrs. Nellie Brewer Pierce.

When Friend W. Richardson was running for governor he promised economy. Elected, he summoned Mrs. Pierce to put it into effect for him.

Probably she's the first woman who ever drafted a state budget.

How she slashed figures! How much she'll have saved by the end of her first year as budget director! It's too soon to say yet, but all indications are that the total will run into many, many millions.

Of course her economies haven't been popular with politicians. Whole broadsides of attacks have been directed against her. Mrs. Pierce doesn't run and hide, however. When she answers at all, it's to defend herself vigorously. She's polite, about it—but unyielding.

"Every woman who's ever run a home knows what figuring and economy mean," she says. State budget-making's the same as home budget-making, except on a larger scale."

MRS. NELLIE BREWER PIERCE

Though a few people still insist that the typewriter is for business only and insulting when used socially, today's custom permits typewritten letters for nearly all occasions. However, commercial paper should not be used for social correspondence, a wide margin should be left at the top, bottom and the sides of the page, and the signature, either to a business or social letter, should be in pen and ink.

JANET CONTINUES

A merchant with offices in the city and a country cottage for golf, does not carry a loaded revolver about with him. My heart quickened with excitement as I picked it up and handed it. I forgot my master's indifference. I ignored the fact that, although I am well enough to look upon, and that may face and figure have won me more admirers than I could count of the fingers of both hands, he had never cast a second glance in my direction. I still had faith in myself if I chose to make the first advances. I have never made them to any man, but I have an instinct. I believe that he is cold and unresponsive from habit. I believe that if I could make him understand the fires which are burning me up night and day, he would throw off his mask of coldness and mystery, would give me that place in his life which I crave.

I was loitering about his room, looking still at that closed drawer, when to my amazement a man entered—a thin, weedy-looking person, with sunken cheeks and a straggling sandy mustache. I am not easily frightened, but it gave me a turn when he closed the door behind him. "What do you want?" I asked sharply. "How dare you come up here?"

He looked at me earnestly. It was obvious that my first thought was a mistaken one. This was not one of the admirers whom I found it difficult sometimes to keep at arm's length.

"Young woman," he said, "I am a police officer. You seem to be a sensible girl. Answer the questions which I ask, do not obstruct me in the course of my duty, and you will be rewarded."

I looked at him in silence for several moments. I do not think that I changed color or showed anything of the terror which clutched my heart. My master was in danger. All the time I stood there, I was thinking. How was I to help? How could I help?

"Your master returned here an hour or so ago," this man continued, "and has now gone off to play golf. I want the clothes which he wore when he came down."

"How do you know that he changed?" I asked.

"I saw him come in and I saw him go out," was answered. "This is his bedroom, is it not?"

"It is," I admitted.

"Then the clothes must be here. Where are they?"

"I do not know," I answered. "I was looking for them myself. I was just going into the bathroom next door to see if he had left them there."

He stepped back and entered the bathroom. He was only gone for a few seconds, but I found time to take the revolver from the drawer and to slip it into my loose pocket.

"The bath has not been used," he said a little shortly when he came back. "I should like you to stay with me while I search these drawers."

I made no objection, and he made a hasty search of the contents of the first two. When he came to the bottom one and found it locked, he gave vent to a little exclamation.

He made no bones for what he did, nor offer any apology. With an instrument which he carried in his pocket, he forced the lock and bent over the contents of the drawer. He was a man addicted, I should imagine, to silence, but I heard him muttering to himself at what he found. When he stood up, there was a smile of triumph upon his lips.

"What time do you expect your master back?" he inquired.

"I do not know," I answered. "He was lunching at the golf club and playing a round afterward. About five o'clock, I should think."

He walked to the window and stood looking out over the links. I too looked out. In the far distance we could see two men playing.

"Do you know the links?" he asked.

"Very well," I told him. "I have lived here all my life."

"What hole are they playing now?"

"The seventh."

"What green is that just opposite?"

"The seventeenth."

"Where is the tee for the eighteenth?"

"Just out of sight, underneath the trees."

He nodded, apparently well content. His eyes lingered upon me. I saw a look in his face to which I was perfectly well accustomed. He had discovered that in my quiet way I was good-looking. He came a little nearer to me.

"Are you fond of your master?" he asked.

"I see very little of him," I answered. "He gives me no trouble."

"Do you know that you are rather a pretty girl?" he ventured, coming nearer still.

"I am always very careful of strangers who tell me so," I retorted, taking a step backward.

"You'll give me just one kiss for this?" he begged, holding out a silver crown. "You're an intelligent girl, and you've told me just what I wanted to know."

I looked at him curiously. If it were true that I was an intelligent girl, it was scarcely a compliment which I could return. For a police officer, he must have been a hopeless idiot.

"I don't allow anyone to kiss me," I objected, pushing the coin away.

"You must put up with it just for once," he insisted.

I scarcely believed that he was in earnest—and for the first time in my life a man kissed me upon the lips.

I can find no words to describe the fury which was born in my heart against him. I feared even to speak, lest my passionate words might carry some warning to him of the things which were in my heart. He seemed perfectly indifferent, however, and in a few minutes he strolled out and made his way across the garden to the little wood. I took up my master's field glasses and satisfied myself that he was still a long distance away. I waited for a quarter of an hour. Then I took another path which led into the shrubbery, and made my way cautiously to where the man was standing with folded arms, leaning against a tree.

I drew nearer and nearer. I am light-footed, and I have even been called stealthy. It was part of my early training as a parlormaid to make no noise when I moved. So I stole to within a few yards of him, unperceived as a dunderhead. It was a queer gusty November day, with tumbling masses of clouds in the sky, and a wind which bent the tops of the sparse trees and brought the leaves rustling down. Soon there would be company for the creeping and crawling insects to whom winter meant death. And afterward, I had a vivid little mind-picture of a crowded courtroom, of the judge who might try me and the jury who might pronounce my fate. For a moment I shivered. Then I thought of that loathsome career. I thought of my master, and I smiled. If he knew, he would thank me. Some day he would know.

I was so close that I think my victim felt the breath from my lips or the sensation of my approaching body. He turned quickly around and I saw his eyes wide open with apprehension. He would have shrunk away, but he seemed paralyzed; and as he stood there I shot him. He swayed on his feet an instant, then stumbled and slumped to the ground. I listened for a moment. Then I took the path back to the house. I had finished what I came out to do.

MICHAEL CARRIES ON THE STORY

My round of golf with the man who was the declared hunter of my life and liberty afforded me no apprehension whatever, although I must confess that the first sight of Norman Greaves seated in the club grill, only an hour or so after he had witnessed the abortive attempt to arrest me, was something of a shock. I came to the conclusion, however, that his presence here was accidental, and in no way connected with that harmless and respectable inhabitant of the neighborhood, James Stanfield. I played golf steadily and with success. It was not until that startling discovery, close to the eighteenth tee, that my equanimity was seriously disturbed. As we looked down upon the dead body of the plain-clothes policeman whom I had last seen in Woolerton Road, we both recognized him. No hint of anything of the sort, however, escaped from my lips.

After the first few seconds of stupefaction, Greaves naturally took charge of the affair. He set the cadences to search all around for a weapon, and begged me to summon my gardener, or anyone who might be of assistance. I called for Soale in vain, however, and remembering that he had asked leave to visit his brother at Mayford, I abandoned the quest. Subsequently, one of the men working on the course appeared, and we carried the body into my toolshed. Greaves locked the door and telephoned for the police and doctor.

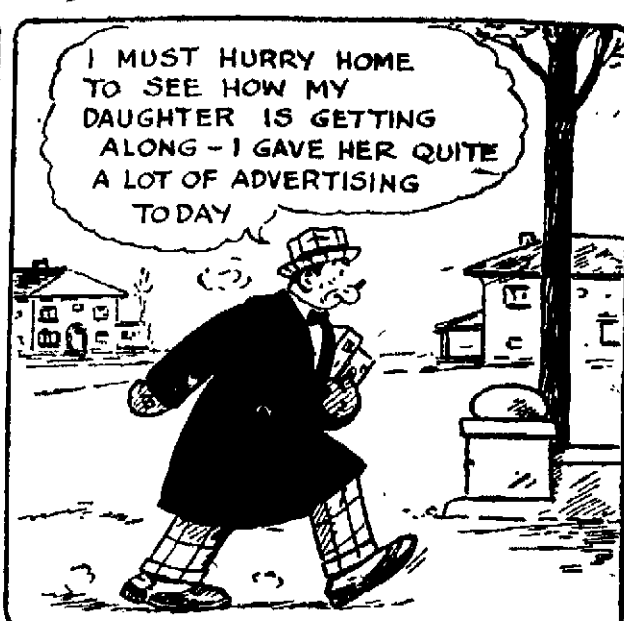

"You will excuse my apparent off-houseness," he said, "but I once had some connection with Scotland Yard."

"There is nothing to excuse," I assured him. "I am only too thankful that you happened to be here. Do you think that it is a case of suicide?"

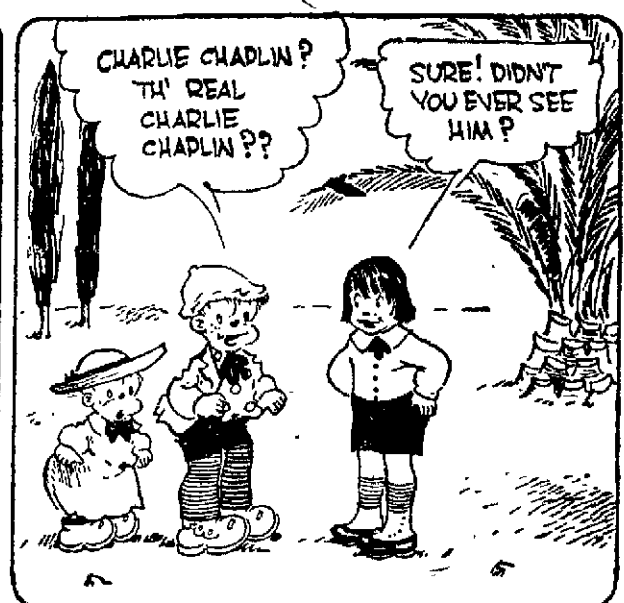

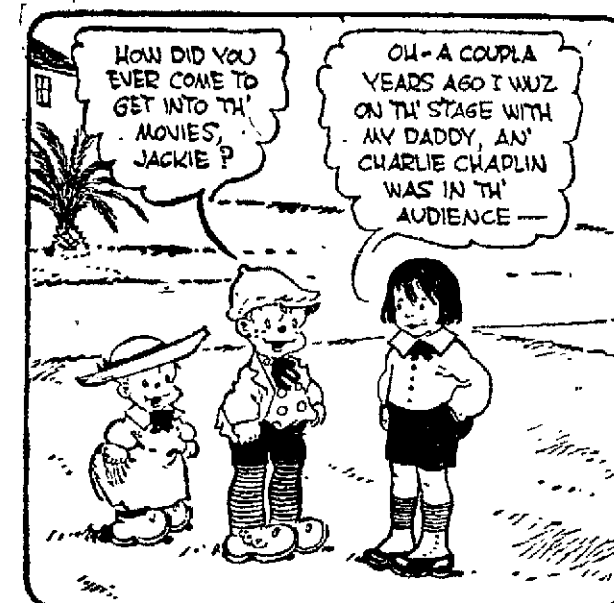

"I have reasons for doubting it," he replied, "apart from which, if it were suicide, the weapon would have been found. As the event happened so close to your house and actually on your path, Mr. Stanfield, you will not mind, I am sure, if I question your servants."

BARGAIN WEEK

Monday March 12th to Saturday March 17th

SIX INSERTIONS OF YOUR WANT AD AT THE PRICE OF FOUR

Business Men:

WANT AD BARGAIN WEEK offers business men an unusual opportunity of turning into cash some of the equipment that they no longer use and that is occupying good storage space. Whatever you have—even though it has passed its stage of usefulness to you, is valuable to somebody and that somebody will gladly pay a fair cash price for it. Why not take advantage of this big clean up week—your Want Ad 6 times for the price of 4.

In writing your ad—use the same sort of sales talk as you would to a prospective buyer—it pays.

Try and create in your minds eye a gigantic department store, larger than any you have ever seen. Then try to imagine this gigantic department store holding a mammoth sale not in one or two departments but in all departments—this will give you some conception of the selling force that will be created during WANT AD BARGAIN WEEK. Hundreds of people will take advantage of this opportunity of filling their needs. Like a huge snowball the Want Ad Page creates a stronger pulling power with each increase of its volume. During WANT AD BARGAIN WEEK the Post-Crescent Want Ad page will reach the highest peak of pulling power that it has ever attained.

During WANT AD BARGAIN WEEK The Post-Crescent will give SIX insertions of your WANT AD for the price you usually have to pay for FOUR insertions. With the additional publicity that will be given the Want Ad page during WANT AD BARGAIN WEEK this will be a bargain that every person in this vicinity should be interested in. ORDER YOUR AD FOR FOUR INSERTIONS—THE POST-CRESCENT WILL GIVE TWO ADDITIONAL INSERTIONS FREE.

This Offer Does Not Include Advertising Paid for at Contract Rates.

Fully Told: Sooner Sold

It is false economy to boil your ad down to a minimum amount of words. Many people when using a Want Ad leave out the most interesting features of their offer in order to save a few cents on the cost of the ad. This is not a saving. In hundreds and hundreds of instances it has been proven that if you tell enough you will SELL your proposition.

It is better to have fewer inquiries from really interested parties than it is to have a hundred inquiries from people who after finding out more are uninterested.

When you order your Want Ad to appear in The Post-Crescent during WANT AD BARGAIN WEEK be sure that you have told enough to SELL your proposition.

Plants and Seeds

Right at this time of the year is an exceptionally good time to sell seeds and plants. Flowers, vegetables, grain, berries—yes anything that grows and that requires seeds or plants to start. If you are going to have extra plants, why not sell them at a profit—Use a Want Ad during WANT AD BARGAIN WEEK.

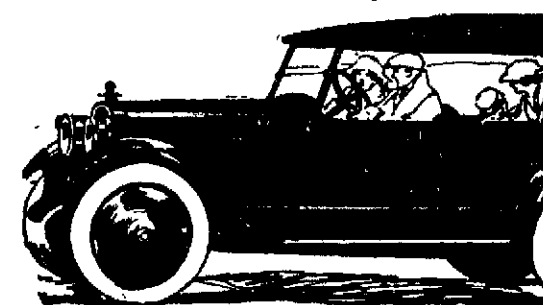

Furniture in Big Demand

Ninety-nine out of every hundred furniture for sale ads produce enough inquiries to sell all the pieces the advertiser wishes to sell. Hundreds of people have old pieces in their attics or store rooms that are saleable and that they could turn into cash by offering for sale through a Post-Crescent Want Ad. Chairs, rugs, davenports, bedroom suites, dining room suites, kitchen cabinets, stoves, floor lamps, bookcases, desks, etc., are all pieces that are used in every home every day and can be readily sold with the use of a Want Ad.

Used Cars Bought, Sold or Exchanged

During the next 90 days the automobile game will be more active than at any other time of the year. People will be buying new cars and selling their old ones. The people who want to buy cars will read the Want Ads more thoroughly at this time than at any other. If you have a car to sell or if you want to buy a car you can use six insertions of a Want Ad for the price you usually pay for four insertions.

Good results can be had from an Auto Wanted ad.

Musical Instruments

Anything that will make music can be sold almost immediately when it is offered thru a Want Ad. Among the things that have been sold are pianos, phonographs, violins, organs, ukles, banjos, orchestra and band instruments of all kinds. What instrument have you that you would sell—Use a Want Ad during WANT AD BARGAIN WEEK.

Houses - Lots - Farms Summer Homes

The Want Ad page offers unusual opportunities for the person who wants to buy, sell, or exchange real estate of any kind. A testimonial to this fact is the persistent use of these columns by the men who make real estate their business. The man who wants to buy or sell is particularly fortunate—he can use a fifty word Want Ad about his need and save the price of two insertions. To advertise a house or farm not less than fifty words should be used—to get the best results.

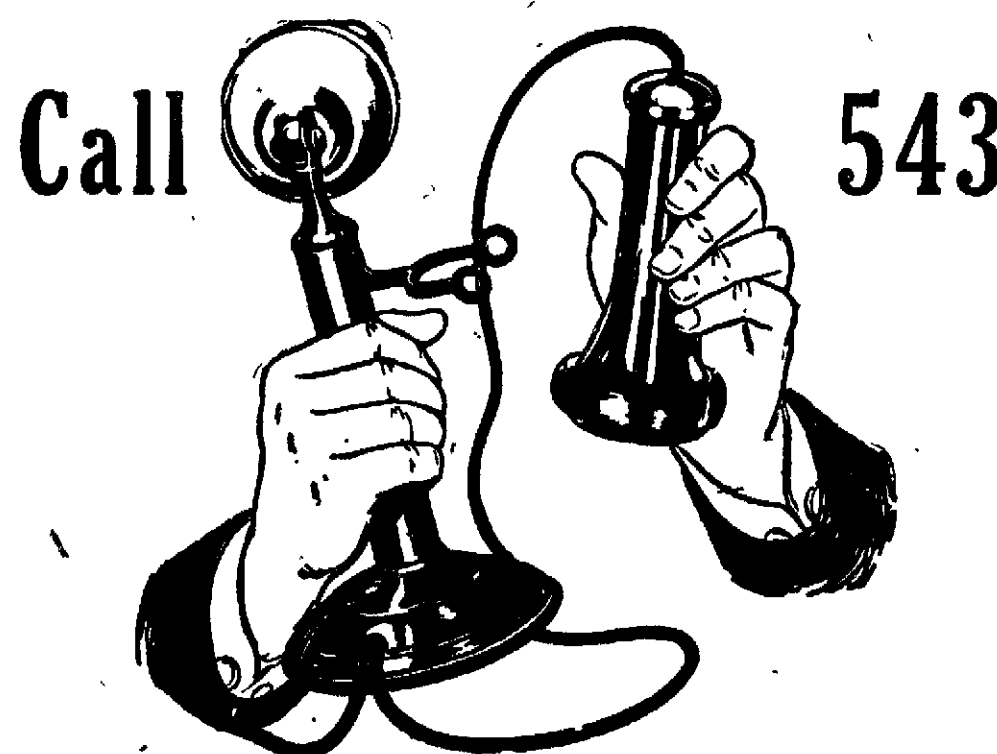

Poultry and Livestock

The man who raises either poultry or livestock and who must sell this stock to make money will find the Want Ad page in The Post-Crescent one of the quickest and most economical ways of turning that stock into cash. This is only one of the services the Want Ad page renders to the readers of The Post-Crescent.

Just at this time eggs for setting are in great demand.

Rooms Apartments Houses - Farms Garages

No matter what it is you have for rent or that you want to rent for your own use—you will find that the WANT AD page is the one and only sure way of finding a person whose wants will be just the opposite from yours. Find a tenant—find a landlord—use a Want Ad.

The Most Popular of All Classifications

Of the 63 classifications by which WANT ADS are classified these two are perhaps the most thoroughly read. The first ad may offer an automatic rifle, the next ladies' suit, or a typewriter. The variety of things that are offered in these two classifications reaches from needles to airplanes. WANT AD BARGAIN WEEK should make these two classifications the most interesting they have ever been.

Do You Need Help or a Position

You will find that in either case The Post-Crescent Want Ad page is a most resourceful means of finding what you want—help or a position. If you have a job perhaps you can find a better one—read the Want Ads. If you have a full force in your shop—office or store, perhaps some of them are inefficient; a Want Ad will put you in touch with some one who is efficient.

Services Offered

A great many people depend entirely on their ad in the Services Offered column to find work for them. Usually the people who use this column want work that is termed as odd jobs—a bit of painting or carpenter work or plastering or weaving or any of a hundred and one little jobs that need trained people to perform. The results that these people get from their ads are most pleasing to them as it gives them a means of earning a living at work which they like to do.

GUNNER JOE QUINN MAKES SHORT WORK OF DUFFY

FIGHT STOPPED IN THIRD ROUND AFTER 7 SPILLS

Flashy Left Mitt Of St. Paul Man Plays Tattoo On Jaw Of Chicagoan

POST-CRESCENT DECISIONS
Gunner Joe Quinn, St. Paul, stopped Jack Duffy, Chicago, in the third round.
Phil Zwick, Kaukauna and King Schwab, Hortonville, fought four rounds to a draw.
Ed Phillips, Appleton, beat Vincent Butten, Milwaukee, in six rounds.
Frank Elsch, Appleton, knocked out Glenn O'Brien, Shiocton, in the first round.

Appleton boxing fans have something new to talk about. It's Gunner Joe Quinn of St. Paul, Thayer boxer, who has been making a name for himself as a member of the famous stables of Meyers, Collins and Gibbons. The twin city promoters and expurgs, Quinn Wednesday night carved his name in the history of Appleton fight game by making a wreck out of Jack Duffy, Chicago, in less than three rounds of an affair that was scheduled to last ten.

The gunner got seven knock-downs and could have gotten more hadn't referee Otto Tonne halted the affair and sent Duffy back to his corner and to the dressing room.
But in unloosening the pile of gloves, Quinn was spilled once but it was only for a short period and he advanced himself with the stiffest left jab that ever was demonstrated here.

The show was good. Only two of the events went the limit and of the 25 scheduled stanzas only 11 were fought due to the haymaker in another battle. It wasn't the most scientific program but it had a lot of entertainment. Only one person was grieved and that was Promoter Elmer Johnston. The crowd was small and the Appleton Tex Rickard had to dig deep in his pockets to defray the expenses.

BOTTLE LOOK GOOD

Coming back to the Duffy-Quinn fight, the beginning had all the earmarks of one of the classic scraps ever presented here. Collins entered the ring weighing 155 1/2 pounds. Duffy weighed in at 157 pounds, the boys started with a clinch. They sparred a while and Duffy landed with a left and followed up with a right.

The show was good. Only two of the events went the limit and of the 25 scheduled stanzas only 11 were fought due to the haymaker in another battle. It wasn't the most scientific program but it had a lot of entertainment. Only one person was grieved and that was Promoter Elmer Johnston. The crowd was small and the Appleton Tex Rickard had to dig deep in his pockets to defray the expenses.

Duffy began the offensive in the second stanza. He felt his way out with his left and hit hard with his right. Quinn backed up and went to the floor and the referee started to count. But at the first number the St. Paul scrapper was up and at it. Quinn came back strong and knocked Duffy down three times in succession, although the third time Duffy wasn't on the floor—the ropes held him up. Quinn's strong finish gave him the round by a wide margin. The bell saved Duffy from worse damage.

DUFFY GAME AND HELPLESS

Despite his "glass jaw" Duffy put up a stiff battle and it looked that he still had a chance to land a haymaker when the twin city gunner socked in some more lefts to Duffy's jaw and back went down.

Duffy began to look foolish and after getting up Quinn followed up the tottering Chicagoan and spilled him to the floor again. At this juncture Duffy recovered—only for a few seconds, and rocked Quinn with hard blows in the face and body, one landed in the eye, which closed up. Later, Quinn, however, had too much of a lead and head but Duffy down kissing the canvas while Tonne counted to nine. Duffy arose and was forced to the ropes and then Tonne halted the slaughter. The third round lasted little over two minutes.

OPENER SECOND BEST

As predicted the opening preliminary between Phil Zwick, Kaukauna, and King Schwab, Hortonville was the next best thing on the card. Schwab entered the ring at 123 1/2 while Zwick tipped the beams at 109 1/2. The lads fought to a draw, the first round going to Zwick, the next to Schwab and the last two even. While both lads didn't put up the "bloody" fight of the first meeting, it was nevertheless a better showing. Zwick was a bit more cautious, used good foot work while the defense of Schwab was what saved him from a possible beating.

The lads split on wallops all the way. Zwick landed offener and would have counted badly for Schwab hadn't the Hortonville boy stopped them with his gloves and arms. Zwick proved that he is a corner and a fast boy, and on the way that may eventually put him abreast with his brother Jack.

ELMER WINS SEMI

The semi-windup lasted the six rounds but with both Ed Phillips Appleton, and Vincent Butten, Milwaukee, being too tired at the end to call their exhibition fighting. Both weighed 132 and a fraction. Phillips won the battle because of his aggressiveness. Phillips took the first, second, third and fifth rounds. Butten won the fourth while the sixth was anything's.

Phillips cut up Butten's mouth in the first round but at the same time Butten forced Phillips to double up under a shower of punches. They exchanged a few fast.

Phillips hit hard to the face in the second but Butten only grinned. He grinned all the way though at times he was on the verge of losing consciousness.

Butten put up a genuine grin a second later when he cut Phillips' cheek, below the right eye, drawing some. Enraged Phillips hit Butten to laugh.

Sylvester Planning Baseball Team With Appleton Material

Will Limit Nine To Four Professional Men—Wants To Meet Local Players—State Magnates Gather Here Saturday

Appleton's baseball team in the Wisconsin State league will be made up of "home talent," the majority of it anyhow.

This is official information from Harry Sylvester, manager of the Paper City squad and will be in accordance with the rule that will be adopted by the other league magnates when they meet to decide on the season's schedule and rules at "Con-way" hotel at 230 Saturday afternoon. This meeting was called by President T. E. McGilgan, Menasha, at the session several weeks ago at which Shiocton, Kaukauna and Fond du Lac were added to the circuit.

Sylvester plans on hiring only four professionals, the rest of the players to be selected from the Interfactory and Outagamie leagues of this vicinity. "Dutch" announced that he has his lines out for several men and he expects to land them within the next two weeks.

"I'll try to get several of the men who were with the team last season. Len Smith will be back. All Appleton players will be given a chance. I want to meet them and they can see the Saturday afternoon and evening," Sylvester said.

According to the pilot it is almost the unanimous opinion of the club owners to get as many local players as possible. Fred Beebe of Oshkosh is planning to run his team entirely by Sawdust. City made players with the possible exception of a hurler. Beebe expects to do some tossing himself.

SPORT VIEWS AND NEWS

San Barry, Iowa basketball coach, former Lawrence college student and a Wisconsin man, is one of the most talked of athletic leaders in the country today because of his coaching ability. Mr. Barry presided a championship basketball team at Iowa in his first year at the school. That in itself is not so remarkable, but he produced the title winner at a school that never has majored in basketball and with only two veterans around whom to build a team. Mr. Barry ranks with Pat Page as a basketball marvel.

The district basketball tournament opens in Appleton tonight. To be sure this tournament isn't like the meetings of the old days in which the best from all over Wisconsin competed here for state honors, but still it promises to be a pretty exhibition of basketball. It has been regretted a good many times by basketball followers in this community that Lawrence permitted the state tournament to slip through her fingers.

It is not strange that persons with strong religious convictions occasionally take a wallop at the boxing game when such fellows as Siki, the French negro are permitted to remain in the game. Siki, and men of his type, are a disgrace not only to the boxing game but to the human race. Any promoter or who will use that kind of a fellow in a boxing match and any fans who will go to see him are doing as much to injure the game as Siki is.

the face but the latter hung on and refused to be dropped to the floor.

It was the same thing in the third round but the lads began to show the wear of the battle. Phillips was too tired to land the haymaker and Butten whacked away at the Appleton boy's body.

Phillips got a running start in the fourth but Butten doubled up Phillips and landed some hard blows on the kidneys. It looked as if the Milwaukee lad had a chance to send Phillips to dreamland.

The fifth was even with Butten putting up a better fight as he went along.

Phillips tried his running start in the final stanza. After mixing awhile Phillips went down to the floor, apparently tripping and a little later Butten was on his knees for a second. The boys welcomed the bell and hugged each other.

STAGE PARCE
The alleged prelude between Frank Elsch, Appleton and Glenn O'Brien, whose hometown was announced Wednesday night being Shiocton, proved to be a farce. Elsch knocked out O'Brien in three punches of the first round, lasting exactly 22 seconds. Despite the press agenting of Manager H. C. Williams, O'Brien never raised his hand in the fight except to shake hands and then he thought the referee was going to hit him. Elsch entered the ring with a heavy beard apparently part of the training program. O'Brien seemed stage struck and Elsch hit him twice in the body and the third time to the jaw. O'Brien fell below the ropes, as if something from heaven had dropped on him. He got up while the referee was counting. He was giddy, and wobbly and tumbled sent him to the dressing room. The fans had a good laugh.

DISTRICT CAGE CLASSIC HERE GETS UNDERWAY

Appleton Meets West Green Bay Tonight—Two Games This Afternoon

TONIGHT'S GAMES
Appleton vs West Green Bay, Menasha vs Seymour.

Appleton district high school basketball tournament, sponsored this week-end in Armory G by Lawrence college department of athletics, got under way at 2:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon with West Green Bay and West De Pere meeting in the first attraction. Clintonville and New Holstein were the principals in the game following. Thursday night Coach A. C. Denny's Appleton high school cagers will open at 7:30 o'clock, meeting West Green Bay high school entry. In the second evening game, Menasha is to play Seymour.

Teams and backers arrived throughout the morning. Final and complete plans for the tourney were announced Wednesday night and were set in motion early Thursday without a hitch. Games will be continued both Friday and Saturday afternoons and evenings.

With every team announced to have scores of rosters along the side lines, record breaking crowds are expected to attend the games, particularly in the evening. The championship match will be played on Saturday night.

GET TWO CHANCES

Each team will have two chances before it is eliminated from the tournament. The winners in Thursday's games will meet in the games Friday night, while the losers will mix in the afternoon attractions on Friday. The winners in Friday night's games will be the two teams who will fight in the championship game Saturday night, while the losers Friday night will play the winners of the afternoon on Saturday afternoon. This will leave two

Defeat Oshkosh Quint
The basketball team of the Order of DeMolay, Oshkosh was defeated by the Badger team of Appleton Tuesday evening at Y. M. C. A. gymnasium by a score of 29 to 9. The visitors were outplayed at nearly every point.

Iowa's Wonder Coach, Barry, Is Former Lawrence Athlete

BURGITT, CENTER

Appleton and Lawrence college may justly lay claim to some of the glory heaped on Sam Barry, basketball coach of Iowa. Big Ten leaders Barry is a former Lawrence college student and earned his letters in basketball under the tutelage of Mark Catlin the Appleton law dispenser and former athletic mentor of the Methodists. Barry is a regular visitor in Appleton, making his home each summer with Mr. and Mrs. Daniel P. Steinberg in their summer residence Shore Acres, on Lake Winnebago.

The fact that Barry turned out a title holder in the first year as a coach in the Western Conference is remarkable but what's more remarkable is that Barry's parents particularly never intended that he enter athletics and it was for that reason that he was sent to attend the Paper City school.

This is an inside story and comes from Barry's own family. Mrs. Steinberg who is Barry's sister and whose attention was drawn to press dispatches carrying the record of the Iowa mentor, gave a few interesting details on Barry's career.

HERE IN "GOLDEN DAYS"

Way back in 1912 when Barry finished high school in his home town in Madison it was decided by his parents that Sam should become an accountant and because of the youth's ambitions to star in athletics it was decided to send Barry to a smaller school where the physical training was not emphasized and the glory of being on the team was less. Lawrence was chosen. But Barry being away from home, did just the opposite what was desired by his family. He entered the football squad and at once found himself with such fast company as Abrahamson, Tipple, boys and others equally as good. Lawrence was just being heard of and rather badly too. Catlin was coach. Barry earned his

RAY SETS NEW MARK TO WIN GOTHAM RACE

New York—Jole Ray of the Illinois A. C. (Chicago) Wednesday night defeated Willie Ritola of the Finnish-American Athletic club of New York by fifty yards in a 5,000 meter race at the annual track and field games of the Western Union Athletic association.

Roth Ray and Ritola broke the world's record for the event set by the flying Finn last Feb. 24 which record however, has not yet been accepted officially by the Amateur Athletic union. Chesty Joie finished Wednesday in fourteen minutes and fifty-four seconds and the vanquished in three and three-fifths slower. Ritola's former time was fifteen minutes.

The race Wednesday night, with the order and result reversed, was a duplicate of that in which the Finn defeated Ray last week over a three mile course.

The field of ten runners was bunched up to the first lap when Ritola in the lead, and Ray, broke away from the pack.

winners to meet preceding the championship match at night in the fight for third place.

Handsome gold, silver and bronze medals will be awarded the members of the teams winning first, second and third places respectively while the winning team will represent this district in the coming state tournament to be held shortly at Madison, under auspices of the University of Wisconsin athletic department.

Officials for the local tournament are W. J. Northey, Green Bay, and "Don" Dyer, former Lawrence athlete. Official scorers are Marvin Kell and "Jake" Zussman, Lawrence college track manager and basketball star.

PLAY IN 16 CITIES

Simultaneous with the start of the tournament here 15 other district tournaments started Thursday in as many sections of the state with each to send the winner to Madison to fight out for the state honors. Other tournament cities are Milwaukee, Marinette, River Falls, Ashland, LaCrosse, Watertown, Rhinelander, Platteville, Oshkosh, Whitewater, Stevens Point, Eau Claire, Two Rivers, Stout district, and Brodhead.

bowlers, is now in first place of the five-man events, third place in the doubles and sixth in the singles as the result of pin smashing Wednesday night in the Elks state tournament here.

The Menasha Elks, traveling under the name of the Shamrock Elks, by gathering up 2,917 pins, went into first place in the team events, displacing the First National Bank of Kenosha and its 2,904 mark, established early in the classic. The other prize winning mark was made by P. Borenz and W. Tuscherer who by two pins went into third place over Verbeiden and Parmentier, Green Bay. The Menash pair piled up 1,191 maps. H. N. Gossett finished sixth in the singles with 618.

TOURNAMENT ABOUT OVER

Unless other teams scheduled here for the end of the week and the Rainbow Gardens, last year's winners, who are to bowl Thursday night, do something sensational, the tournament is about over as far as changes in the leaders' divisions are concerned. Two strong Green Bay teams, which have postponed their games, including the De Lairs are expected to break in to the winners section if they can come here before the tourney is officially over Sunday night. Madison, Milwaukee, Appleton and Kiel teams still are scheduled for action. Two Janesville teams are also due Thursday.

The work of the Shamrock Elks was the most spectacular since the coming here of Jimmy Smith. In the five-man events Borenz's score of 649 was the feature. The Pails had a dandy change of rolling 3,000 but Tuscherer and Munner didn't accomplish exactly what they might of.

MRS. HARDING HAPPY AS PRESIDENT PLAYS GOLF

secretary of the interior in the Wilson administration, but who is now chairman of the American Red Cross, were all planning to say good bye to the president at Ormond and continue on to Miami by rail to pick up the good ship "Victoria" which conveyed the president from one end of Florida to the other last winter. Mr. Harding asked them to pause and make a tour of duty. Attorney General Daugherty, who was to have been a guest of the president's last, decided to go on to Miami and rest in a hotel there and so did Secretary of Labor David, another member of the cabinet. Secretary Weeks and Mrs. Weeks left the president at St. Augustine. So for the next few days at least, Mr. Harding will be left with Mrs. Harding. Private Secretary George Christian, Dr. Sawyer, Chairman Lasker of the shipping board, General Daves of budget fame, and the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Edward B. McLean.

The attorney general would have liked to stay with the president and the others but his physicians thought it best to detach him completely from his friends so he would not be tempted to talk politics and public affairs. Mr. Daugherty was in bed most of the time on the train but just before the president and Mrs. Harding went aboard the houseboat he walked back to the private car. It was the first time in many weeks that he had seen Mrs. Harding and they joked about the reunion of the invalids.

The first lady of the land was beaming with happiness. Ever since last August she has been confined to the upper apartment of the white house. She hasn't been away from Washington since last summer. She has seen hardly anybody in the interim as she had to have absolute rest. She looks remarkably well considering the long siege of illness. She and Mrs. McLean will be alone on the houseboat practically all the time as the men in the party will be ashore golfing a good many hours each day. She is so improved in health that a trained nurse wasn't taken along.

The McLean houseboat is a picture of comfort inside and out. Big palms and flowers adorn the canopied decks. The "Pioneer," as the boat is called, draws very few feet of water and is almost as wide as the presidential yacht Mayflower and about 130 feet long. It isn't equipped for radio communication but the inlet is very narrow and the secret service motor launch can get back and forth to shore with messages for the president day or night. There is such a complete contrast between the busy atmosphere of Washington and the quiet leisurely life of houseboating and golf, however, that the national capital already seems thousands of miles away.

HOUSE WHITEWASHES BOB MADISON

Madison—A call of the house was ordered Thursday in the assembly when the Huber resolution condemning action of University of Wisconsin faculty members for signing a round robin during the World war, censoring Senator Robert M. LaFollette for his war attitude, came up for a vote.

This resolution was adopted by senate Wednesday by a vote of 17 to 12.

Reinforcements were called for by the LaFollette forces in the lower house even after a motion to indefinitely postpone the resolution was able to muster but ten votes.

Assemblyman A. B. Matheson, Janesville, moved indefinite postponement of the resolution after expressing his unwillingness to condemn the acts of the faculty members who as citizens exercised their right to express their opinions on LaFollette during the war.

When the motion for indefinite postponement was put the vote stood 10 to 76 and was lost. Assemblymen Engel, Jung, Laffey, Lawson, Perry, Sherrer, Matheson, Summerville and Vincent voted to kill the proposal.

In order to get all of the assemblymen on record, a call of the house was clamped on.

After all but seven absent members had been gathered in by a call of the house the assembly voted 72 to 21 to raise the call, and immediately commenced in the resolution, which it previously refused to indefinitely postpone by a vote of 76 to 10.

WAS CONDEMNED BEFORE
This action of the Wisconsin legislature is taken by members to be a vindication of Senator LaFollette who was himself condemned by the two houses during the early days of the war.

While the resolution confines itself to condemnation of the University faculty members who signed the round robin denouncing LaFollette, speakers alluded to it as a general vindication by the legislature of the war stand taken by Senator LaFollette.

WEIRD NOISES OF YOUTH TERRORIZE COMMUNITY

Green Bay—Sheriff Jake Guerts and a party of deputies will investigate the strange case of a young man, who was reported by neighbors near the town of Eaton, near here, to be terrorizing the community by screaming and making weird noises. The sounds, which the neighbors declare they heard, were reported during the recent cold weather, although blocked roads made an investigation trip to Eaton extremely difficult at the time.

Undersheriff Henry Hermesen declared that about a year ago, when he was sent to Eaton on a search for liquor violators he searched a hay loft, entering through a small cubby hole. In the loft, according to Hermesen, he discovered an 18 year old youth who was surrounded by heaps of suitcases and grips which were filled with patent medicine bottles. The youth seemed to be insane, the undersheriff said, and he pretended he was a traveling salesman. There were no signs however, of any ill treatment.

County officials believe the youth to be a victim of inhuman treatment.
